Orator, Entre Nous Club.

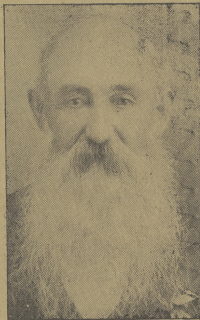

176 Warren Avenue,
Chicago, Ill., Oct. 22, 1902.
For nearly four years I suffered from ovarian troubles. The doctor insisted on an operation as the only way to get well. I, however, strongly objected to an operation. My husband felt disheartened as well as I, for home with a sick woman is a disconsolate place at best. A friendly druggist advised me to get a bottle of Wine of Cardui for me to try, and he did so. I began to improve in a few days and my recovery was very rapid. Within eighteen weeks I was another being.

Mrs. Stowe's letter shows every woman how a home is saddened by female weakness and how completely Wine of Cardui cures that sickness and brings health and happiness again. Do not go on suffering. Go to your druggist today and secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui.

THE IDEAL WIFE

One Man at Least Has Found and Won That Kind.

After many months of anxious searching, many thousands of inquiries, many hundred miles of weary traveling and untold scores of heartrending disappointments, Rev. George W. Brownback, of Reading, has found and taken to his bosom an ideal wife.

The Rev. Brownback's quest for a wife who should meet all the qualifications set forth by him had become a matter of national renown. Newspapers throughout the country heralded his want of a companion to maidens anxious for marital relations. Photographs and letters poured in upon him and the Reading postal authorities imagined another "endless chain" had been established. Every clue that seemed to have the ideal wife at the end was eagerly pursued by the clergyman. But it was not until he met Miss Blanche DeCon, of Newark, that his ideal was realized. It was love at first sight, strengthened by subsequent impressions. The parson tasted her cooking and spent a week at her home observing her manners of housekeeping. They discussed religion, politics, philosophy, domestic economy, relations of husband and wife and son-in-law and mother-in-law. In everything they agreed. God's hand was in it all, the clergyman believed, as it was only indirectly through his matrimonial advertisement that they had met.

Going to Newark to study a young lady who answered his card, he met this woman who above all others impressed him as combining the requirements of the ideal wife. According to his description she is a woman with dark hair, dark eyes, comely, neat appearance, practical Christian piety, good housekeeper, but too fussy, excellent health; one who knows how to sew and cook and mind her own business, and a woman who will not try to boss her husband, and last but not least, a woman who will accept the word of her husband rather than that of her mother.

Having decided on her as the best fitted companion for his life's work the reverend suitor merely wrote her a quotation from the scriptures:

And now I beseech, thee, lady, not as though I wrote a new commandment unto thee, but that which we had from the beginning, that we love one another.—John ii, chapter v.

after thee; for whither thou goest I will go, and where thou lodgest I will lodge. Thy people shall be my people and thy God my God; where thou diest I will die, and there will I be buried; the Lord do so to me, and more also, if aught but death part thee and me.—Rih i:16.

"Third notice." Every editor has received them. The post-office sends them to the editor. The editor is not to blame. For instance, there is a man by the name of—well, say Tim Short—who sent us three notices to stop his paper. He did not want it any longer. We wondered what was the matter. Upon investigating our subscription book we found that Tim was short $5.70. He had never paid a cent and yet he stopped his paper as a matter of economy to us. A few evenings ago we stepped into church, and Tim's melodious voice rang out loud and clear in the old oldstirring song, "Jesus paid it all." We might have been mistaken, but his earnestness impressed us. The next day we sent him a receipt in full begging his pardon for not knowing that he had made an assignment of his liabilities to the Lord.—Ex.

In Albany, N. Y., there is a man who wants to die, and who could have his wish if the lawyers would let him. He is under sentence of death for murder. He says the sentence is just, and that he is ready, willing and anxious to pay the penalty for his crime. But his lawyers have persisted in taking an appeal over his protest. The condemned man has written to the Governor, begging him to prevent the Court of Appeals from setting aside his sentence. The murderer takes the ground that his temperament is such that if he were set at liberty he would be a menace to society, therefore it would be better for everybody concerned if he were dead. The grounds of the appeal are technical; the murderer says technicalities should not be permitted to stand in the way of common sense and the good of the public. It seems rather a pity to put to death a man of so much common sense.

On the 15th inst. the gates of the dam at Dunlap Shoals will be closed. A large crowd is expected to be present and a big time generally in Gainesville and out at the plant. This plant will furnish a large amount of electric power, and we understand that all the power has already been contracted.

THE NUGGET.

DAHLONEGA, JUNE 4, 1904.

Entered at the Dahlonega, Ga. P. O. as Second Class Matter.

Official Organ of both City and County.

It is said that the Japs lost 12,000 men during the fight at Kin Chou on the 27th ult.

The News reports the theft of two houses in that city recently, showing that they take big things as well as little ones in Atlanta.

Last Tuesday one year ago, one of the most destructive cyclones, that ever struck this country swooped down on the city of Gainesville.

One day last week William Stepp killed Tom Winner, a negro, who was walking across his field contrary to Mr. Stepp's rules. It is not best to tread on forbidden grass.

State Treasurer Parker has raised the question as to the constitutionality of the act calling for a summer session of the Georgia legislature, and his right to pay the members of the general assembly and their per diem and mileage. The state's attorney will render a decision very soon. Should he decide it unconstitutional to pay the members of the summer session there will be a larger number to pensioners than usual.

We told you that the democratic gate was being swung open to the republicans during the late democratic primary, causing some men to be nominated who would not have been otherwise. Now those republican voters will turn their backs in a different direction in the general election and fight those that they were for then, like men who went across the line during the civil war. They got a pension in that case, but they won't in this.

A strong effort has been made to get Col. Day, a republican of Jasper, to make the race for congress against Mr. Bell, but he wisely declines. A leading republican last week informed us that he stated to Mr. Day that he would take the field for him and contribute three hundred dollars to the campaign fund, and still Mr. Day said no. The gentleman has lived his three score years and ten almost add is fully aware that the people of the Ninth district are not going to elect a republican this time, if ever.

Col. Farrow, while on his way to the Queen of the Mountains last week, said that his same relatives would run the hotel again this season. This is a year of politics and the Colonel being a politician, takes great pleasure and much interest in a campaign when there is a republican in the field or likely to be. He will devote much time and money in pushing his riches interest. But when it comes to trying to put a republican in congress from the Ninth the Colonel knows that his time, energy and money is all lost. Yet he wants to show a willing hand.

A telegram from Washington City says: The department of agriculture today announced that an ant has been found in Guatemala that is an effective enemy of the boll weevil. It will be immediately introduced into the cotton states. The greatest significance is attached to the discovery which is made by O. F. Cook, the botanist in charge of tropical agricultural investigations of the bureau of plant industry. Cabled instructions have been sent to him to report immediately to the department what assistance he needs in the way of men and money. During a trip in Central America last year Mr. Cook discovered a cotton, grown by Indians, which gave evidence of being immune from the attack of the boll weevil and on orders from the department he later began an investigation in certain points in Guatemala and Mexico.

The State Convention.

The state democratic convention has met and adjourned. Everything was harmonious and nice.

The delegates were instructed for Parker. Below is a list for the state at large: M. J. Yeoman, John D. Maddox, James M. Smith, C. R. Pentleton.

Ninth District delegates: W. E. Gandler, Union; W. W. Stark, Jackson.

State Executive committee 9th District: C. H. Brand, Gwinnett; W. A. Charters, Lumpkin; J. H. Witzell, Fannin.

About Those Telegrams.

As requested by Bro. Perry of the Cherokee Advance, we publish his reply to Mr. Bell in reference to the telegrams sent out during the primary, as follows:

"We print with pleasure the letter of Mr. Bell, and the above statement also of Capt. Jones, but we will not undertake to reconcile them. The marshal and Mr. Jones say that no such thing as stated in the telegrams occurred. Mr. Bell justifies Mr. Walker in sending the telegrams. What effect this telegram had at Toccoa and other precincts in Habersham county in giving Mr. Bell that county by seven majority, we are unable to say, but Capt. Jones says that these telegrams at Toccoa in Habersham county, and other places, hurt Mr. Tate badly. But as to whether or not there was captured and in the hands of the marshal at Norcross on election day $137 of Tate money and whiskey, as stated in the Walker telegram justified by the above letter of Mr. Bell, we must leave to Mr. Bell, Mr. Walker, Capt. Jones and the town marshal, and the public themselves can say whether or not such political methods, if true as reported, are disreputable."

Col. Farrow Wants Mr. Ashley to Run.

While Col. Farrow, was on his return home from Porter Springs last Sunday, we dropped in to see the gentleman while he was waiting at the post-office for the down stage to his city, and while enjoying the company of the Colonel the congressional race in the Ninth District was sprung, and he said that we might announce that he was for Mr. Ashley—was talking for him, corresponding for him and doing all he could to advance his interest.

It might be well enough for us to say here that we had a conversation with Mr. Ashley the day previous who stated to us that he was not a candidate for this honorable position, yet he gave us to understand that he would be in the field if he believed there were enough dissatisfied democrats that would help the republicans defeat Mr. Bell, the democratic nominee for congress. In fact Mr. Ashley asked us what we thought about his chances of being elected, and we were frank enough to give him our honest opinion—that there was none whatever. That the soreness would be out of all those who failed to get their choice in the recent primary and on the day of the election they would step up to the polls and cast their ballots for Tom Bell and send him to Washington by an overwhelming majority, matters not what republican runs or how well known or influential he is.

It's true that Col. Farrow is a wheel horse in politics, for he is willing to put in much time and money into the republican campaign basket, notwithstanding all this our friend is not strong enough to turn the Ninth district republican. Every republican in it knows this to be a fact. Often it has been tried. A strong effort has been made to get life long republicans of the district to make the race without success, and now Mr. Ashley, who has not been from Ohio long enough to acquaint himself with the political situation here is the last chance. If he declines a blank leaf will have to be left in the republican record of this district.

Matters not who runs Lumpkin county can now be put down in the Bell column by a 125 majority.

IT IS A MATTER OF HEALTH

The N. G. A. College Once More.

Well, this will make the fourth year we have seen the concluding exercises of the North Georgia Agricultural College. Her commencement will begin on June 12th and end on the night of the 15th.

While this is our last time it will probably be the best time we have ever seen at this institution. We are no longer a student under her direction but we will ever be as loyal a friend as she can profess to claim.

Within the last four years we have undergone many trials and troubles that it takes to make up a college life. We have burnt a little midnight oil. We have dreamed about the Latin verb. We have dreamed of the right triangle. We have dreamed that we were writing compositions. We dreamed that water and H2O were different properties. We dreamed that we were sailing in the aerial regions within a paradise of flowers where the walks were lined with gold and the fairies reigned in universal peace when, Lo! our slumbers are disturbed by the sound of the college bell and we must rise from our repose of refreshing sleep and go to school.

There would be many things to talk about in connection with our college just at present but the one we are most anxious to speak about is the personnel of her excellent faculty.

Prof. Gaillard, the senior member, has been in connection with the college since it was established. He has always won the esteem of his students. He has led them successfully into the study of science. They respect him for his sympathy. Prof. Gaillard is now acting president of the college.

Prof. J. W. Boyd is at the head of the department of mathematics. Prof. Boyd has been with the college quite a number of years and his students have always thought much of him. They have too much respect for him not to prepare his lessons. They admire him for his firmness. After being under him for four years we can join all his students when they say, "I think a heap of Prof. Boyd."

At the head of Latin and Greek is Prof. Vickery. Prof. Vickery has been teaching Latin and Greek for some time. He thinks much of his students because they study his Latin and Greek with a manly determination. If they do this he is pleased with their work. They, in turn, respect him very highly for making them toe the mark. We voice the sentiment of all his students when we say that he has learned us how to study Latin and we shall always remember him for it too.

Miss Josie W. Clarke, who is at the head of English, is surely a faithful teacher and sympathetic with her students. She enjoys to see those under her direction love literature for literature's sake. If she has accomplished this she thinks as much of her student as any one ever did. She is very strict and wins respect by being so. When they first begin under her instruction they think she is too thorough, but when they have finished her work she has raised them to a plane before unknown.

Prof. Charles W. Davis is in charge of Agriculture. Prof. Davis has been here only one year and the success he has made is apparently wonderful. We have only been under his instruction for a short while but we are convinced that he is an excellent teacher.

Prof. Charles P. Hiller has charge of the Business Department. Prof. Hiller deserves much credit for the excellent results he has obtained by hard work. Though we did not go to his department we are sure of his splendid ability as a teacher.

Prof. K. C. Moore has had charge of History and Economics for one term. His short stay with us has proven him to be a teacher of excellent ability.

Prof. J. C. Barnes has assisted in Mathematics for two years and he has proven himself to be a splendid teacher.

Prof. J. R. Byers came in last year as assistant in English and Civics. Prof. Byers with his scholarship is quite competent to teach.

In conclusion, as we now leave college, we extend to them, one and all, a hand of respect and reverence, surrendering to their name the credit to whatever we may be able to do.

J. F. BROACH.

We have received a pamphlet containing the pleading and argument on behalf of N. A. Morris, candidate for judge against Geo. F. Gober, in the Blue Ridge circuit, charging fraud in the late primary, and must confess that it is the rottenness affair we ever read. By all means, let the next general assembly change the present manner of electing judges and solicitors.

CHALLENGE FROM DR C. H. JONES.

Offer to Refund Money if Dr. Howard's Specific Will Not Cure Any Case of Constipation or Dyspepsia.

Dr. C. H. Jones is seeking the worst case of dyspepsia or constipation in Dahlonega or vicinity to test Dr. Howard's new specific for the cure of those diseases.

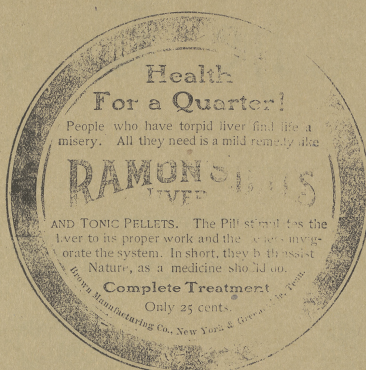

So confident is that this remarkable medicine will effect a lasting cure in a short time, that he offers to refund the money should it not be successful.

In order to secure the quickest possible introduction Dr. Jones will sell a regular fifty cent package of this medicine at half price, 25 cents. This specific of Dr. Howard's will cure sick headache, dizzy feelings, constipation, dyspepsia, and all forms of malaria and liver trouble. It does not simply give relief for a time; it makes permanent and complete cures.

It will regulate the bowels, tone up the whole intestinal tract, give you an appetite, make food taste good and digest well, and increase vigor. Joy and happiness will take the place of that "don't care whether I live or die" feeling.

Take advantage of Dr. Jones' challenge and secure a refund of Dr. Howard's specific at half price, with his personal guarantee to refund your money if it does not help you.

There is no need of suffering with constipation, dyspepsia or liver disease when you can get sixty doses of a scientific medicine for their cure like Dr. Howard's specific for the small sum of 25 cents.

FOR SALE BY DR. C. H. JONES.

Comptroller General Wright, the cripple confederate soldier, who has held this office for a number of years, received the largest vote cast in the last democratic primary. His vote was 170,104. It is not often that an old confederate vet. is forgotten when asking for a favor of this kind for a state house officer, but sometimes when one asks for a county office he is left to take care of himself the best he can.

Five hundred people were made homeless in Zazoo City recently on account of a disastrous fire.

Local News.

Mrs. R. H. Baker visited Gainesville this week.

Col. W. A. Charters took in the Ninth Congressional and state democratic conventions this week.

Four persons who had joined the Baptist church, were baptized in the creek down at Wimpy's mill last Sunday afternoon.

A large number of dogs have been killed in this county within the past few days. A number of them supposed to be rabid dogs.

U. S. Deputy Marshal Grizzle also owns valuable mining property here and is having some development work done on it now.

The next night those boys ring the college bell they should leave their dog at home, for when they run it follows and gives them away.

Drs. Wheelchel and Head of Dahlonega, went up into White county and performed a successful operation on a gentleman troubled with appendicitis.

It doesn't cost as much to bury paupers in the country as in town. One was buried in Nimbleshill dist. for $3. In Dahlonega it costs from $10 to $15. This is too much.

The singing out at Ashley's last Sunday was largely attended. People were there from various portions of the county, for miles around. Dahlonega's Mayor and Marshal and the Sheriff were present, and everybody enjoyed themselves.

Deputy collector Crockett was here last week paying his respects to some of the blockaders of this county. Mr. Crockett was in the Spanish-American war with Mr. Roosevelt, now the president of United States, and relates several interesting things about this high official that occurred during their camp life.

It was first thought that most of the fruit in this county had been killed, but we notice peaches on many trees now as large as a man's thumb, apparently healthy, and we may safely say that there will be enough fruit ripen in this county to cause many a blockader to spend several months of his time in Fulton county jail.

The tax collector intended making a settlement last Saturday, but the bailiffs have yet failed to make any report. Some of them seem to be very careless. One had made a partial collection on a f. fa. and took out his cost like it was a civil case. Another sent his uncollectable f. fa. in without any entry and tried to be returned to him for his signature.

As usual, after the college boys stand their examination, a number of them leave for home before commencement. Both student and parent should feel enough interest in this noble institution for the former to remain till the commencement exercises are over. Their appearance on this occasion will be of some benefit to the college and most certainly they should be willing to lend a helping hand in this direction.

Official news was received here last Saturday from Atlanta, where Mr. Johnson's little son had been sent to be treated for the supposed bite of a rabid dog in Dahlonega some days ago, that it was certainly a fact, and several persons having dogs that came in contact with the one on that day, have already been killed—some of them very valuable bird dogs. The treatment of the little boy commenced at once and he is getting along all right.

Rev. W. C. Taylor interested a large congregation at the Baptist church last Sunday night by a most excellent sermon. From beginning to ending he got the closest attention of all present except two girls who sat by each other and talked all the time during every prayer offered. If they want to marry they are making little headway in enticing the eye of a lover, for a man in search of a wife wants to get one who will be have at church every time.

Bear in mind that the tax receiver is making his last round now.

Mr. Floyd Anderson lost 125 panels of rail fencing by fire last Saturday.

The graded school closed last Saturday with very interesting exercises.

Mr. E. W. Strickland, after being absent some time down at Buford, came home this week on a visit.

The Signal didn't appear last week, but will hereafter be published by Capt. Woodward and his son.

If you wish to continue reading The Nugget you must renew when your time is up and send in the cash.

The drought has been broken and we have had plenty of rain this week, and you can almost hear the corn pop—it grows so fast.

Fans! Fans! At H. D. Gurleys you will find Japanese fans from 25c each to 25c. Colored palm-leaf fans 10 cents each. See them while they last.

That fishing party recently who went across the mountain didn't catch many trout but the fun that was experienced can better be imagined than described.

We stated a few weeks ago that Mr. Jackson would care for Lumpkin county's paupers but he has refused to sign the contract because he wants none but white persons.

Talk about hunting, Mr. S. S. Chester and his boys of Nimbleshill district, beat them all. In three days this week, they killed 50 squirrels, 50 hawks and 10 crows.

A goodly number of persons have been out fishing this week but in several instances the bait being kept in a jug on the bank of the streams the fish couldn't get to it to bite and no success was had.

We have just received a nice line of ladies' and children's hats. Also a nice line of shoes, Oxford & Sandles. We are giving some extra bargains. Come and see us before buying elsewhere.

ANDERSON & JONES.

Not long ago a certain fellow bought a couple of plugs of tobacco on a credit. Now he even buys his meal in Gainesville. Such as this injures our merchants and town both. Let the merchants organize and put a stop to this.

Mr. Jabe Waters, who was charged with breaking into the post-office here on the night of the 14th, was discharged by Com. Baker last Wednesday, being no evidence to connect himself with it whatever, outside of Edmonds.

Dr. Wheelchel and Mr. H. D. Gurley attended the Congressional convention in Gainesville last Tuesday where Mr. Tom Bell was nominated. Dr. Wheelchel seconding his nomination. They went from there to the state convention in Atlanta.

On Friday and Saturday, the 17th and 18th inst., I will sell all my household furniture now at the Dahlonega Hotel. It is nice, good and almost new. Sale begins at 8 a. m. Let every body needing anything in this time come.

JOHN HATFIELD.

We regret to learn of the death of Mr. P. H. Scott, which occurred at Denver, Col., on Thursday of last week. He had just eaten a hearty meal and died within four hours afterwards of apoplexy. Mr. Scott built the magnificent Hand Mill at Dahlonega and was well known throughout this county.

There has been trouble up in Chocotate district between Ben Rivas and his wife. They had a fight and separated for a few days, but they are living together now as happy and content as ever. She used a stick of stove wood, as a weapon, and Ben used the ramrod of a gun, and came out victorious, so we are informed.

Everybody and their cousins are expected at the commencement of the N. G. A. College which begins on the 12th.

Col. Price and Mr. B. R. Meaders have been absent in Atlanta this week attending the state democratic convention.

The pastor of the Methodist church and his wife left first of the week on a visit, and will be absent some six or eight days or more.

The residence of Mr. Jno. Lungefelt was destroyed by fire out in Nimbleshill district a few days ago, and all its contents. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Messrs. Charlie Hope and Matthews passed through Dahlonega last Saturday on their return home from Tennessee, where they had been trading for stock.

That large bowl of strawberries sent us by Mrs. H. D. Ingersoll last Saturday was greatly appreciated. Such acts of kindness will long be remembered by ye editor.

Mrs. Sarah Ann Cronan died here suddenly in Nimbleshill district the other day. She had walked two or three miles and after returning home expired. Age 92.

Those fond of good music will be glad to learn that the services of the U. S. Infantry band has been secured to play here during the commencement of the N. G. A. College.

Mr. Walt Waters of this county, charged with illicit distilling, waived examination last Tuesday and made bond for his appearance at the next term of the U. S. court in Atlanta.

Wells in Dahlonega that have always supplied plenty of water are now going dry and have to be sunk deeper. Now that it has rained likely we will have plenty in a short while.

We are requested to state that there will be no preaching at the M. E. church Sunday on account of the absence of the pastor, Prof. Boyd being unable to do so owing to the sickness of his family, and all are invited up to the Presbyterian church to hear Rev. D. J. Blackwell.

Not long ago a gentleman came to Dahlonega to enter his son in college. He had never been here before, and after arriving wanted to know if there were no stores in Dahlonega. Why? was asked. Because, said he, I saw nothing to indicate it. But signs of caskets and coffins were plentiful.

Right funny occurrences take place some times. The other day a certain pensioner while in Dahlonega, who is drawing money for disabilities received from a flesh wound while in the late war and limps while he thinks about it, jumped out of a boggy with as much activity as a cat, and went walking off as well as any one till he happened to think of himself and then resumed his usual limp.

If any one residing in the warm, unhealthy cities wish to spend the summer where the water is pure, climate healthy and delightful, let them come up to Dahlonega, near the foot of the Blue Ridge mountains. Only twenty-five miles from the railroad. Hack fare $1.50. Board can be obtained at either public or private houses very reasonable. If you desire exact terms or any other information drop us a line and we will furnish it with pleasure.

A refreshing shower fell last Sunday afternoon, being the first one in several weeks.

Mr. David McKee of Dawson county, who was in Dahlonega a few days ago, exhibited the largest cat fish ever caught in upper Georgia. It was 27 inches long and came from the Hightower river.

Mr. F. W. Bainbridge, the secretary and treasurer of the Consolidated Co., is still here and will be for some time. Mr. Bainbridge puts in 27 times down at the mines, spending no idle moments whatever.

After being here for several months taking advantage of our splendid school facilities, Hon. R. B. McClure returned to his home in Dawson county last Monday with his family, the school having closed last Saturday.

We are always glad to see the ladies come and never fail to appear and greet them with a smile. But last Saturday when some of them called we failed to attend the usual courtesies because we were in the bath tub. This explanation should be sufficient.

The revenue officials went across the river to an illicit distillery, reported to be in operation, but the still was pulled out and everybody gone. This still had brought about a good deal of trouble, and for the time it ran made a widow and several orphans, so we are reliably informed.

We thought when people were supposed to be good enough to be accepted into the church that they all acted together as brothers and sisters, but it doesn't seem to be that way. Down at the baptizing last Sunday we are told that a difference was shown, and that night at church when a new member went in and sit down by another girl she arose and went to another bench. This is poor encouragement for such persons to try to do right.

It is said that preacher Hubbard, pastor of the colored Baptist church, in winding up his meeting last Monday night, stated that the negroes had disfranchised themselves by selling their votes for a small amount. Correct. But the negro is not by himself. Some of the white people trade this way and ought to be disfranchised too. We know of one person at the last primary who got fifty cents from one candidate, an order for some meat and meal from another and we do not know how much he received from the rest.

It is reported to us that a Dahlonega negro, who attended the funeral over at Hickory Grove last Sunday got so hot from the effects of liquor that he fainted and had to be carried out of the church and given fresh air. He was following the example of some of the white brethren, and if the members who are opposed to such conduct do not take some action they had better order a litter to use on such occasions. Besides this it is said that a white woman and a negro man were there together and enjoyed something like a cakewalk. Later.—We learn that the fainting was not from the effects of liquor, but the other report is said to be true.

The Gainesville News asks us to tell what woman it is residing in Tennessee who is drawing a Georgia pension in Lumpkin county. We got our information from a grand juror at the last term of the court and do not know the name. It seems that the woman while lived in Lumpkin county was put on the pension roll, and nothing was said about it when she moved. So when the time comes for her papers to be prepared here she comes over on a visit and the ordinary, unaware of her removal, signs up the papers and she draws like other citizens. Often it is shown the grand juries that pensioners are out certified, but there are so many of the members either directly or indirectly interested that no action is taken. This matter should be taken out of the hands of the jury and some other method adopted. In fact the grand jury itself should be abolished.

• To Build Up a Town.

To be a live, up-to-date business town and take advantage of every good thing that comes along, the merchants and business men generally must cultivate and have a friendly feeling for one another, pertinently remarks the Florence Herald. Because one man has different opinion politically and religiously from you is no reason you should hold yourself aloof from him. Remember always that his friendship is worth more to you than his opinion. In friendship there is harmony and in harmony there is strength. One man alone cannot build up a town, nor can half its citizens do so when the other half oppose them. It may be a bitter pill to pull in the same harness with your neighbor up the street, but nine to one if you pull with him while you will find out that he really is a better man than you thought for, and if you are both pulling to accomplish the same good end, in this way you will quicker become acquainted with his good qualities, like him better and soon overlook his faults. Another thing, do not always be crying out dull times to every stranger that comes along. At this season of the year the farmers are in their crops and we cannot expect their presence in Dahlonega. By this dull time talk of a gentleman unintentionally, knocked us out of a fifteen dollar ad. the other day. Now had we received this money we would have spent it here and it would have been that much more cash in Dahlonega. We give this as an illustration of how easy it is to injure your town.

Mr. Croff Moore has returned home from the Dunlap and it may be that he will take charge of the Crown Mountain mine when it starts up again.

It was first decided to have the childrens meeting at the Baptist church next Sunday night, but the time has been changed. It will take place Sunday morning.

We were informed by parties in Dahlonega this week that it was believed by some that Ben Holtzclaw, who recently died in Dawson county, had been poisoned and there was some talk of taking him up for an examination.

Mining Notes.

The prospect of a large yield of gold in this county for 1904 was never better. All the mines that were in operation last week are moving right along with satisfactory results and it is useless for us to go into details about them. The mill down at the Etowah mine has been running for the past few days, and in four or five weeks the Crown Mountain plant will be started up as the last log was put on the Gorge dam last Thursday, and if we had an electric railway up to that place we could all have a big time same as is going to take place down at the Dunlap when they close down the gates of that dam on the 15th inst.

The Hand mill is being gotten in good shape and soon 20 stamps or more will be run on the different ore for a month or two for a more thorough test.

A Correction.

DAWSONVILLE, GA.,

May 31, 1904.

ED. NUGGET:

DEAR SIR:

Some weeks ago you wrote a very sympathetic piece about one Mr. James Carder, and left the inference that I was quite a cruel and heartless doctor. You will please publish this. I had practiced for that said Carder in the year 1901 and he never even thanked me for the service or paid for it, but moved away from Dahlonega, I am informed in the night. Now, three years later he sends for me with no explanation as to former acts and you and John Brackett try to make me out a very cruel man for refusing to serve him again. You and the sympathizers ought to chip in and help pay Mr. Carders old bills, then he might get everything his family needs. Sure if the former bill was paid I would have no reason to refuse Mr. Carder and would not. I will head a subscription with fifty cents and ask that you and Brackett do likewise to defray his old bills, and if the public in general will contribute as liberally as they sympathize there will be glorious times at Jim Carders for awhile.

Respectfully,

M. N. Stow, M. D.

We publish the above "correction," though it ought to be an explanation, with pleasure for Dr. Stow. He told us Saturday that our article was correct, but people might infer that Carder had not been able to pay him. Now there are men more able to meet their obligations than Jim Carder who don't do it. Dr. Stow being one of them. Jim can't, and the doctor is able but so long in paying a debt that a person will become disgusted and quit asking for his money, and we had just about as soon one was owing us fifty cents or a dollar as the other. Does Doctor Stow meet his promises? No. When he was here Saturday bailiff Carroll with a f. fa. against the Doctor for fifteen or sixteen dollars in favor of Mr. Boyd Gurley, was aiming to levy on his horse, but being told that he would send the money back by Tuesday, postponed levying. Did the Doctor do it? No. So you see that there are men of more prominence than Jim who fail to meet their obligations. The sympathizing figures of fifty cents from the pen of the Doctor might do for a show but wouldn't help Jim. If we were to agree to give Jim Carder 50c. we would do it. As to Mr. Brackett, he has already done his part by giving medical attention to Jim's family gratis, for which the Doctor would have charged ten dollars.

We are told that Carder only owes the Doctor $2, which is a very small amount to raise such a kick about, for he made this up no doubt off of the next patient he gave any "pewies" and pills.

If you have any further explanation Doctor, send it up in time for us to be able to analyze it and give a correct report.

When You Are by My Side, Love.

The world is full of gladness
And life is all a song,
With never a touch of sadness,
And never a day too long;
The skies are bright and beaming,
No cloud can e'er abide,
And there's no time for dreaming
When you are by my side.

When you are by my side, love,
When you are by my side;
The world is full of gladness
With never a touch of sadness
When you are by my side.

The violets are sweeter,
The birds more gaily sing;
The moments, love, are fleet,
And ten-fold blisses bring;
The brooklets babble merrier,
Monotony's denied,
And all of nature's cheerier
When you are by my side.

There's never a thought of sorrow
And never a thought of care
That may be mine tomorrow,
No thought of past despair;
No thought of coming a revolt,
Thy presence, sweet, denied—
The thought of parting I abhor
When you are by my side.

MY DEAR SIR:

I enclose you money order for $1.00, paying for my Nugget from June 17th 1904 to June 17th 1905, as per the date on the wrapper, and I would thank you to change said date so I will know you get the remittance all right. To one who was born in Iowa and has lived here all his life THE NUGGET has lots of things in its locals that are interesting, for they are different. Then I am a little interested in your mining field, and hope to be more so soon. I think if the Georgia field was known and capital would go in there that you have one of the richest on this continent. Fellows will send money out to Colorado on almost any pretense to invest in almost any of mining stock, good, bad and indifferent, who just laugh if you tell them Georgia has a great field and is one of the safest districts in the country. They do not know that there is a mine in that state. Of course Colorado advertises and pushes all the time. They blow their own horn so loud that it drowns the shout of some other fields but it pays them. I like THE NUGGET very much and while I get perhaps over one hundred papers and magazines a week I know THE NUGGET from its wrapper and never miss reading an issue.

Cost of Living at the St. Louis Fair.

As was so in the case of the great exposition at Chicago in 1893 and the Pan-American fair at Buffalo in 1901, there are now numerous reports of extortionate hotel and other charges at St. Louis. Many who were alarmed by the reports went to Chicago and Buffalo and found, to their relief, that they could live decently and comfortably at comparatively moderate rates. Travellers who know how to protect their own interests, and are not disposed to demand the best of everything in sight will no doubt have a similar experience at St. Louis.

We are informed that it cost Secretary Hay and his party $28 a day each during a week recently spent at the St. Louis fair, and this is cited as a "fair illustration" of the "shameless greed" of the hotel keepers. But is it? Every party bound for St. Louis will not feel obliged to choose the hotel selected by the Hay party, or feel the need of the same number or luxurious rooms, or require the same number of bottles of champagne and expensive liquors. An account of the experiences of a Western man of more moderate tastes, which we find in the Charleston News and Courier, gives us, we think, a fairer idea of what the average visitor to St. Louis may expect.

The Western man referred to is Mr. Frank P. McLeman, "responsible head" of the Topeka State Journal, and the facts of his experience, which we take at second hand, are as follows: He stopped at the Inside Inn, just within the gates of the exposition. It cost him 5 cents each for himself and his party to go from the railroad station to the exposition grounds. He found the charges for rooms at this place ranging from $1 a day to $5 for each person, according to the size of his pocketbook and his desire for conveniences and luxuries. He was able to get breakfast for 30 cents a head, luncheon for 50 cents and dinner for 75 cents. He found the charge for service in barber shops 15 cents, the same as in Topeka. Newspapers could be bought for 2 cents each, and cigars that could be smoked for 5 cents, although better ones could be bought for 10 cents. Instead of paying $4 an hour for an automobile to ride around the grounds the editor from Topeka paid 50 cents for the round trip, and instead of paying $2 for a carriage to go to the exposition grounds, he paid 5 cents street car fare. He found that while persons stopping at one of the big hotels in the city would have to pay $4 a day for each person for a room, there were hundreds of places within a few minutes' walk or ride of the grounds where comfortable rooms could be had for $1 a day, and over two hundred hotels where the prices ranged from 50 cents for lodging and upward, and five hundred restaurants where the provender could be obtained at the home prices.—Macon Telegraph.

The interior of a cannon is perhaps the last place in the world one would associate with a sleigh, and yet India possesses a gun which is capacious enough to form a chamber where officers retire for a siesta during the heat of the day. This cannon, which is beyond question the largest in the world, is probably also one of the oldest. It was cast nearly 400 years ago by a famous chief of Ahmednagar, and came into English possession when India was conquered.—London Standard.

MR. CAN HULSEY,
My DEAR LOVE:

Sweetheart, I want to come to see you, and maybe I will come and maybe I won't. Darling, you are the sweetest boy I ever saw in life, and maybe I will call you my own sweet darling some of these days, if the other's don't beat me, but I hope they won't, darling. Maybe if nothing don't interfere with us I can get to make your old bones pop. Oh, darling, how I could make you run. Maybe I will get to see you, if you will come down here to meeting. I would take you and not let you go back to that old dam. Maybe you won't long, if I could get to see you. Sweet little darling, Can, you must come and see me, for I love you better than any boy I ever saw in life, and I wish that I could know in my heart that you loved me. Darling, I don't know whether you like me or not, but I am sure I like you. And darling, you have got my heart and love, and I hope I have yours. If I knew that I have got your heart and love I would be happy, darling. So I will close for this time. So, darling, this is a May bee, but I hope the next one won't be. So good bye, sweet darling—my own darling, Can.

They had just telephoned from downtown that Hubby was seriously injured and was fast losing consciousness.

The wife was distracted. Grief, perplexity, exasperation, were on her face.

At last she gasped into the mouthpiece of the phone:

"I suspect I cannot get down there in time, for my new hat hasn't come from the milliner's yet, but if I can't please ask him, for he loses consciousness, what he did with the theatre tickets for tonight."

And then, her grief obtaining mastery, she fell in a dead faint.—Baltimore American.

The value of psychic influence in the practice of medicine is being demonstrated in the case of Mrs. Jane Salee, eighty-four years of age, who is in the City hospital being treated for insomnia. LIVER TROUBLES

"I find Thedford's Black-Draught a good medicine for liver disease. It cured my son after he had spent $100 with doctors. It is all the medicine I take."—MRS. CAROLINE MARTIN, Parkersburg, W. Va.

If your liver does not act regularly go to your druggist and secure a package of Thedford's Black-Draught and take a dose tonight. This great family medicine frees the constipated bowels, stirs up the torpid liver and causes a healthy secretion of bile. Thedford's Black-Draught will cleanse the bowels of impurities and strengthen the kidneys. A torpid liver invites colds, biliousness, chills and fever and all manner of sickness and contagion. Weak kidneys result in Bright's disease which claims as many victims as consumption. A 25-cent package of Thedford's Black-Draught should always be kept in the house.

"I used Thedford's Black-Draught for liver and kidney complaints and found nothing to equal it."—WILLIAM COPPELAN, Macon, Ill.

THE NUGGET.

DAHLONEGA, JUNE 11, 1904.

Entered at the Dahlonega, Ga. P. O. as Second Class Matter.

Official Organ of both City and County.

It is said that Hon. J. H. Hall also has a gubernatorial bee in his hat to be investigated two years from now.

The Lawrenceville News says that Judge Russell's friends want him to make the race for governor two years from now.

Two young ladies, Misses Mabel Flanagan and America McLoughlin, were killed while in the field near Athens by lightning last Monday afternoon.

Mrs. S. V. Prater, the widow of W. L. Prater, has filed suit in the city court of Athens for $15,000 against the Seaboard Air Line Railway for the killing of her husband some years ago.

It is reported that four of the Japanese ships were sunk a few days ago by a Russian torpedo boat destroyer. A Russian gunboat was also lost, by being exploded. Bloody land engagements are also reported.

The dailies of Saturday contain a report from Mavin that 42 Spaniards died from eating canned preserves. And on the same day a mother and five children were poisoned by eating overripe strawberries. What must we eat to be safe?

A correspondent from McCays, Tenn., says: Times are lively here now. They have begun the grade work for 3 more furnaces, then they will start up the mines and roast the ore in the smelter. That will stop all the roast yard smoke, which will make it much more pleasant for us.

Things are in bad shape in Colorado, on account of the striking miners. Officers at Cripple Creek are forced to resign to escape lynching. The troops are in full power at this time. Threats are being made on all sides to hang Union leaders and alleged sympathizers now under arrest at Cripple Creek.

A report from the Confederate memorial committee shows that 17,267 confederate graves are found in Georgia so far, marked as follows: With marble headstones, 7,522; marked with wood, 46; unmarked, (estimated), 1,964; unknown and unmarked soldier's graves, who cannot be distinguished, 8,000.

In his address to the students of the High School at Columbus the other day at its closing exercises, Judge A. W. Cozart advised the young ladies not to marry a man who does not pay his debts, or who has a strong sense of moral obligation, for, said he, such a man will not and can not support you long.

Sugar and syrup, especially the latter, are now being manufactured in York county, Va., from watermelons. The syrup resembling honey somewhat in appearance and is of a remarkably delicious flavor. The color of the syrup depends largely on whether the entire melon or only the pulp is used. A large number of melons are required for a small quantity of syrup but it is thought that the delicious flavor of the new product will make it in great demand and that the business will increase rapidly.

A telegram from Victor, Col., says that three hundred pounds of dynamite placed by an unknown assassin under the depot of the Florence and Cripple Creek railway station, exploded at 2 o'clock last Monday while fifty non-union miners, employed at the Findlay mine, located on Bull Hill, were standing upon the platform. Fifteen were instantly killed and eighteen others fatally injured. The mine was discharged by electricity, and the man who discharged it was concealed in the shaft house of the Delmonico mine.

Mining Notes.

The Huff and Moose mine has proved to be a first class one and is giving splendid results.

A short delay was caused last week down at the McAfee-Lind mine on account of some part of the pump breaking. The repairs were soon made good and everything is moving along as usual now.

All the miners having leases on the Barlow property are doing well in mining. Joe Bonner was a little a head of the rest in his recent clean up. In twelve days work with the assistance of another man and his two boys he made 182 pennyweights and ten grains of gold.

The Ingersoll & Crismon boat in the Chestatee river moves along regularly, scooping up the yellow metal from the bed and banks of the stream in big paying quantities. Others anticipating the construction of dredges should delay no time but commence work at once if they want to make money.

At the Jumbo mine a saw mill is now on the ground cutting lumber for the mill and flumes and everything up there presents a business like appearance. This mine is in charge of competent hands who know a gold mine when they see it and understand how to successfully work one after it is discovered. All who have visited the Jumbo pronounce it a number one gold mine and those at a distant owning stock in it need not have any fears of a failure.

Mr. Breymann has been re-elected president of the Standard Gold Mining Co. This gentleman has spent much of his time, money and energy in the mines here and we feel confident that he will succeed for he never grows weary in his efforts. Had he had the management of the Standard at the beginning things would have been in better shape down there today. Mr. Bainbridge, another energetic gentleman, was elected secretary and treasurer of this company. The Singleton mill on this property is giving good results under the management of Mr. Campbell.

In reply to enquiries about what is going on down at the Etowah mine we wish to say that a mill test is being made. Mr. Frazee of New York, has been down for several days and supervising things during this run, so we understand. Mr. Frazee may be honest and all right but we don't like the idea of a man interested in the sale of stock having any hand in a test of this kind, for he could order the run made from the very best places, show the values to be immensely rich, sell stock upon the strength of it and when operations commenced steadily all the ore would not give such results and the stockholders would become discouraged and our country given a black eye. We don't say that this is the case. Let the general manager make such tests and make them from the average ores and let the value of the mine be shown up correctly. He is a resident of this country and can't afford it if he wished, to do any thing that would injure it. Mr. Jacques is the manager and we have the utmost confidence in him and his mine, and we do not wish to see any mistakes made in the beginning of this enterprise. We live here and it is to our interest to see the country prosper.

While out on our early stroll last Tuesday morning day light found us down at the Hand mill. We took a general observation of things around and about the mill and thought of the large amount of useless money that had been expended by its first management that had no connection with a gold mine whatever. All such unwise movements are a thing of the past. Its management is now in the hands of men of good common sense judgement who mean business. For several weeks hands have been engaged in making repairs and such changes as will lessen the expenses of handling the ores, and on Monday twenty stamps will be started up on a sixty days run by Mr. Ewing, one of the best and most reliable experts in the United States, who has been employed to make a thorough test of the property. To ascertain exactly how much gold there is in the ore and what kind of a method it will take to save the values should the present machinery fail. Two of the best and most experienced mill men in Lumpkin county—Messrs. Frank Bruce and Mat Wood—have been hired to look after the mill—one at night and the other during the day, and all parties interested can rest assured that they will catch all the gold that can be saved on a stamp mill.

Mr. Eldridge of the Betz while in Dahlonega last Sunday said that he thought Mr. Arnold would be here and start operations at this mine soon. Mr. Eldridge has great confidence in the entire belt on which the Betz mill is located. On this property is a shaft of two or three hundred feet deep, the deepest one in the county, and the ore held out all the way good and is still showing up well in the bottom. The former operators used one or two of those gold losing Huntington mills, but made some money. Now if Mr. Arnold will break up those Huntingtons and put in a common mill with stamps weighing four or five hundred pounds each he will be astonished in the difference in the clean ups, for it is like a western gentleman remarked while in Dahlonega a few days ago, that one of these Huntingtons used long enough would break any company here or any where else. The Huntington mills have never been a success in this country and we would advise all parties who anticipate going into the mining business to let them alone, for every company having tried them here has abandoned their use. They are frequently out of fix and besides they lose about as much gold as they save. We know of one miner who has been working below them with sluice boxes recently and a portion of the time made six dollars per day. By all means let them alone.

From the following letter from Mr. W. A. Carlisle to a friend of his in Dahlonega, we judge that they are going to have a big time down there. He says: "We have decided to close the gates of the Dunlap dam on the 17th inst. Mr. Evans is going to have a barbecue and has ordered quite a supply of meats for the occasion and expects to feed 10,000 people, and I think you will stand some showing for getting something to eat."

CHALLENGE FROM DR C. H. JONES.

Offer to Refund Money if Dr. Howard's Specific Will Not Cure Any Case of Constipation or Dyspepsia.

Dr. C. H. Jones is seeking the worst case of dyspepsia or constipation in Dahlonega or vicinity to test Dr. Howard's new specific for the cure of those diseases.

So confident is he that this remarkable medicine will effect a lasting cure in a short time, that he offers to refund the money should it not be successful.

In order to secure the quickest possible introduction Dr. Jones will sell a regular fifty cent package of this medicine at half price, 25 cents. This specific of Dr. Howard's will cure sick headache, dizzy feelings, constipation, dyspepsia, and all forms of malaria and liver trouble. It does not simply give relief for a time; it makes permanent and complete cures.

It will regulate the bowels, tone up the whole intestinal tract, give you an appetite, make food taste good and digest well, and increase vigor. Joy and happiness will take the place of that "don't care whether I live or die" feeling.

Take advantage of Dr. Jones' challenge and secure a bottle of Dr. Howard's specific at half price, with his personal guarantee to refund your money if it does not help you. There is no need of suffering with constipation, dyspepsia or liver disease when you can get sixty doses of a scientific medicine for their cure like Dr. Howard's specific for the small sum of 25 cents.

Mrs. Eliza Postell, who has many relatives in Lumpkin and Union counties, died at Topton, N. C., on the first day of June, aged about 70, and was buried at Red Marble church. The deceased had been a member of the Baptist church about 50 years.

Summer visitors can get board in Dahlonega at private houses for $12.50 to $15.00 per month. The altitude of Dahlonega is 1500 feet above the level of the sea. Up among the hills of the Blue Ridge Mountain, with pure freestone water and refreshing and vigorous air, makes it one of the most delightful places in Georgia.

Out in Mill Creek district the other day, it is said that two of Will Barrett's wives went to the home of W. W. Sullivan, called out his boy and gave him a severe beating. What the cause was we do not know. A warrant was issued and placed in Sheriff David's hands, who went out and arrested one of the defendants the other day, but at last accounts the other was at large.

Prof. Gilbert, who has been principal of the Dahlonega graded school for a year, left last Wednesday with his family for Washington, Ga. The Professor and his family made many friends while in Dahlonega and they have the best wishes of all our citizens. The gentleman has been offered a position in the High School at Dublin, Ga., who will likely accept when he visits the place and talks with the board, and sees the people generally.

On the morning of the 5th Judge J. C. Brittain worked out his garden and got it in fine shape. Then he took his hatchet and started off after some bean poles. In going down the Brick Yard hill he met a person, who, after a short conversation, questioned the Judge about where he was going, and told him that it was Sunday. The Judge said he thought it was Friday, but turned back and came on into town before he was thoroughly convinced that he was wrong.

The taxable property of Dahlonega, as shown by the recent assessment for 1904, $430,774, being a decrease of $6,028. This decrease was owing to a reduction being made in the assessment of some of the mining companies since last year, not because there had been any decrease in the value of minerals, but because the body wishes to give to parties who invest their money here, all the encouragement possible. The assessment on the telephone lines have not yet been made.

Mr. Frank Meaders visited Swainsboro last Saturday.

The little three line local in last week's NUGGET, saying good fodder would bring $2.50 per hundred on Monday and Tuesday, caused quite a lot of it to be brought in, and in a short while the price dropped to $2.25.

Mr. Ned Moose, who has been over in Tennessee, came home last Tuesday and very much surprised his parents by bringing a wife, having married about six months ago to Miss Dora Owens, a resident of that state.

All persons in Dahlonega, who have been letting their cattle run at large at night, had better make arrangements to keep them up by Monday night, as the marshal will begin to enforce the law then. This gives all a chance to make preparations by that time, and no one need be hurt.

Ida Stevens and Fred Trammell were up before Mayor Baker last Thursday for using very bad language toward one of their colored sisters called Heard. The former was given five dollars and cost, and the latter two and cost. They were given quarters in the calaboose till the fines were paid.

Final Collector Walden made his last settlement with the state and county last Saturday, and the money he paid into the county treasury went like hot cakes. Hereafter bailiffs ought not to be so slow in transacting the business of their office. It is not right for some people to have six or seven months to pay their taxes and the county needing it.

Beginning on the first of July, according to a notice posted up at the post-office, mail carriers, except on the two daily lines to Gainesville, will have to deliver mail by leaving it at all boxes put up on the line. Heretofore persons with no education could carry mails, but this will soon come to an end and all people will begin to realize the importance of having an education.

Last Wednesday one fellow was so full of corn juice that he got so hot that he couldn't get cool till about daylight next morning, although he used every possible means. At a late hour he donned his gown, opened both back and front doors, raised all the windows and fell across the bed with his feet on the pillow and was soon dreaming about the many pleasant occasions in the past. At sunrise he was still in this situation, and his appearance was very attractive and amusing to passers by till he awoke and to his regret realized that it was only a dream.

A big ball on Wednesday night seems to be the program now.

Mr. F. B. Eldridge of the Betz mine, spent last Sunday in Dahlonega.

Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Jones of Coal Creek, Tenn., spent this week in Dahlonega.

Mr. David Prewitt, who has been working over at Soddy, Tenn., returned home last week.

The U. S. States band that is to furnish music for the commencement exercises, will arrive from Atlanta tomorrow.

Miss Johnson, of Gilmer county, who has been so dangerously sick in Dahlonega for some time of measles, is on the mend.

It will be seen by a letter on the first page that a gentleman in Adel, Iowa, likes both the Georgia mines and THE DAHLONEGA NUGGET.

Mr. Johnson's son, who was bitten by a rabid dog some three weeks ago, and who has been in Atlanta for treatment, returned home last Tuesday.

Col. J. H. Moore and his wife will take in the Confederate reunion at Nashville next week and be absent from Dahlonega till the first of July or maybe a few days longer.

On Tuesday night next the board of trustees of the N. G. A. College will tender Governor Terrell a reception during his visit to the commencement exercises of this institution.

Mrs. L. H. Thompson of Newport, Tenn., arrived in the city last Saturday. The object of the visit of this lady is to work in the interest of home missions. She has rented the house opposite Mr. W. W. Crismon.

On account of several children being sick with measles, their special services at the Baptist church were not as largely attended as usual. But the occasion was one of interest, and $8.35 were collected for Sunday School Missions at Nashville.

Parties from the lower country, as far down as Florida, who wish to spend the summer away from home, are already writing to the postmaster here for information about Dahlonega. If our citizens would only spend a little money for printer's ink Dahlonega would be full of summer visitors every season.

Mr. A. H. Isbell of Murphy, N. C., dropped into Dahlonega last Sunday and remained a couple of days on business. Mr. Isbell was one of the first originators of the present timber deal in Lumpkin county and is interested in another one now on foot here. The gentleman has been a frequent visitor to Dahlonega in the past and we hope that he will continue to call for he is clever, sociable and full of business.

Col. C. C. Cowan of Webster, N. C., the attorney interested in the timber deal of the United States Leather Co., in a large tract of land in Lumpkin county, has been here this week engaged in paying for a portion of it, assisted by Col. J. J. Lilly of Dahlonega. The land paid for now lies in Chastate district and is something over two thousand acres. There are several thousand acres more contracted for in this county by the Leather Co., which will change hands later on. The amount of money for these lands are not so great but it will be distributed among many of our farmers and other land owners and be of more general benefit than if it all went to one person or company. And the purchasing of this property means more than this. It will eventually cause the construction of a railroad to Lumpkin county, for without some way to transport the bark and lumber the land is not worth a dollar to the United States Leather Co., and it is not reasonable to suppose that time and money is being spent here by the company just for pleasure alone, for it has taken a long time to consummate and bring this trade to a close.

Mr. Paul Castleberry came up from Gainesville on a visit last Wednesday.

Miss Marie Gaillard, who has been teaching in the public school at Ellijay, returned home last week.

If any of our subscribers are going away during commencement, let them leave their addresses so we will be able to send them their papers.

A good fifty gallon oil tank, belonging to the city of Dahlonega, for sale cheap. Also a five gallon can. Apply to Marshal Walker.

Quite a number of persons are suffering with measles in Dahlonega. The children stand them all right but they are more severe on grown people.

If any of you school boys want to hear from your old sweet-hearts in Dahlonega, during your absence, leave an order for THE NUGGET. It will keep you posted on all local affairs.

A fellow got hold of some liquor the other night that was so hot he would not blow his breath on the bed clothes for fear it might set them afire and he would explode like a barrel of kerosene.

Mr. M. J. Williams went down into his basement of his dwelling the other day and to his surprise, found that some one had stolen a lot of his fruit, cans and all. Mr. Williams desires the thief to bring back the cans so he can have them refilled with fresh fruit.

Some time ago a blockade still was found near Ephraim Cranes, in this county, and on last Saturday he was arrested and brought in by U. S. Deputy Marshal Grizzle, charged with being the owner of it. But as there was no proof to this effect the defendant was discharged by Com. Baker.

A gentleman, who has traveled much, remarked the other day that Dahlonega was the cleanest town in Georgia. This speaks much for our place and every one residing here should take a pride in keeping it so. Burn your old dirty dish rags and papers and do not be guilty of throwing them out on the street.

One day last week, Watson, a little son of Mr. J. W. Walker, was bitten by a rattlesnake's pilot on one of his fingers while pulling weeds from around an old stump. It being ten miles to a doctor, whiskey and the yellow of an egg was used. The egg was bound to the wound and the liquor drunk. A pint was used before it had any effect on the boy, then he soon got better, and is all right now.

Today the commencement exercises of the N. G. A. College began and before another issue of THE NUGGET they will be over and all the students gone and at their homes. A better lot of boys never visited Dahlonega. They are gentlemanly, sociable and kind. Many have passed the examinations, which speaks well of them, not only the students but the faculty and the college. Fifteen of them graduate this term. We may never see all of them any more, but whatever business pursuit they choose for life they have our best wishes. To the others, whose college life is not ended, we wish them a happy vacation and a safe return to Dahlonega next fall.

The citizens of Dahlonega are getting careless about putting up their cattle at night, and Marshal Walker says that he will enforce the following ordinance and requests us to publish it so all may understand what will be the result if this ordinance is hereafter violated. Any person found guilty are liable to a fine of not more than $1.00 nor less 25 cents, with all cost. Here it is: Sec. 144. No cow, oxen or bull shall be allowed to roam during the night time in the city. All cows or other cattle must be stabled, sheltered or confined in some enclosure during the night time, and may be turned out each morning to be driven to the woods and pastures.

The sham battle takes place here Monday at 5 o'clock, p. m.

At Anderson & Jones you will find a nice line of pants and Blue Serge coats. Go and get something nice for summer wear.

Last Thursday Mr. W. E. Ricketts fell while working on a porch floor for Mr. J. H. Moore and broke three of his ribs.

On the first of July the schedule on the Dahlonega and Mrganton mail route will be changed, and start from that end instead of this, as it now does.

Mrs. Porter of DeToona, Florida, arrived here last Wednesday, in company with her son, daughter-in-law and several children, and are located at the Strickland House for the summer.

The schedule on the Porter Springs mail line has been changed recently and arrives here daily, just before the 12:30 mail leaves for Gainesville, and remains till the up mail arrives at 1.

He was on a visit and met one of his old married lady friends last Wednesday and such a happy reunion has not occurred in Dahlonega before in a long time. When their lips met it sounded almost as loud as a ringmasters whip at a circus. This was not a circus but resembled a side show somewhat.

There was a wedding up at Porter Springs district last Saturday at a late hour, at the residence of Squire Martin Duckets. The contracting parties were Mr. Wofford Porter and Miss Tiner Pruitt. Mr. Duckett was absent when they arrived but they went a purpose and when he returned the lady was in bed and the man was undressing. Not being willing to wait till morning the girl got up, partially dressed and the couple were married barefooted, but they appeared just as happy as if their feet were covered with silk hose and patent leather shoes.

It is with pleasure that we are able to state that the board of trustee recommended Dr. Glenn as president of the N. G. A. College last Thursday and at once notified Chancellor Hill of the State University by wire, and by this time Dr. Glenn has been elected, who will accept and be here to attend the commencement exercises. This is a most wise selection. Dr. Glenn held state school commissioners place for eight years, has much experience in educational matters generally and will be a successful worker for this institution on account of his ability and acquaintance with the people all over Georgia.

Rev. Mr. Warren of Boston, Mass., came in last Saturday. He is a mineralogist and came here to investigate and study the mineral resources of this section. He had not been here more than an hour until he commenced his work. On Wednesday afternoon we had a very pleasant call from Mr. Warren and were not long in learning that he fully understands his business, by questioning him about the mines he had been able to see during his advent into our city. His main object in coming to Dahlonega is to investigate the G. A. Gordon property near this place. He has a cheap plan by which this property can be profitably worked, which will be submitted to Mr. Gordon when he returns home and doubtless by the first of next year a stamp mill will be running on it. The visitor was very much interested when we pointed out a reservoir from our office porch on top of the Crown Mountain, elevated several hundred feet above the bed of the Chastate river. This reservoir holds the water pumped from this stream by electrical power on the same river 12 miles above Dahlonega, which also runs the company's 60 stamp mill at the foot of Crown Mountain. The water is used for hydraulic mining, and empties into the river above the pump and is forced up again and travels the same route over and over.

Price Charters, who has been absent in Virginia for some time, returned home this week.

The touch of the painter's brush is making Mr. M. J. Williams' residences have a nice appearance.

Yes, we favor home missions, but will give what we can spare direct to the deserving ones. This is the kind of missions we favor.

Last Sunday there was a rock fight out at the cemetery between a young lady and young man. It was a love affair and neither one got hit.

The plan adopted by Dr. Avis, the late president of the N. G. A. College, in forcing students who got behind with their lessons to go to the Study Hall instead of giving them demerits, was a good one and had a telling effect during the recent examinations.

We noticed a lot of pygmy-men from a distant, in Dahlonega the other day. If our nurserymen in this county would advertise and let people from here know that there was such a thing in existence here, we don't believe you would see one of those fellows here trying to induce people to trade with them who carry the money off out of the county, and sometimes away from the state.

The physician who treats hydrophobia cases in Atlanta, writes to parties in Dahlonega that about thirty per cent of the dogs bitten by rabid dogs take effect. Add one bitten about the head will go mad in fourteen days, and if bitten elsewhere it will be longer. None of our citizens having a dog that they even think has had any chance of being bitten by one should take any risk whatever, but kill their dogs at once.

The committee appointed at the last session of the legislature to examine the books and records of the different offices and institutions of the state, visited Dahlonega last Saturday and made a thorough examination of those pertaining to the office of Mr. H. D. Gurley, treasurer of the N. G. A. College, and found everything correct and satisfactory. The members are: Hon. Joe Hill Hall, of Bibb, chairman; Senator Christie, from Dawson; Senator Comar, from Baxley; and Senator Duncan, from Douglasville, and Representative Hays, from Montezuma. It only required a short time to do the work and in the afternoon they left for their respective homes. Since then a member of the committee said to a reporter of the Macon Telegraph that the "last institution inspected was the North Georgia Agricultural College. We found things in splendid shape, and the committee has nothing but praise for it."

We will say a few more words concerning our controversy with Dr. Stow about the Jim Carder matter, and bring the subject to a close. The Doctor says he has not time to write any more about it, even if he desired to do so, and not being willing to let the matter drop without his side of the question being given, we will proceed to tell you what the Doctor says. First, he states that the reason he didn't attend to the call of Carder, was that he had owed him since 1901, and could have paid it since that time had he wanted to, and that the amount Jim was due is $5.40, including a debt of $1.90 he obligated to pay for another person. Now, in reference to the Gurley matter, the Doctor says that Mr. Gurley had worked for him, and he practised for Mr. Gurley. That when Mr. Gurley sued him he had a counter account against him, leaving Mr. Gurley in debt to him something like seven or eight dollars, and he did not get to enter his plea in time. The Doctor also says that he always meets his obligations, and as soon as he found that he couldn't come back on the day he promised Mr. Carder, that he notified him of the fact, and that Mr. Carroll did not tell him he would levy on his horse that day. That he has settled off the Gurley matter and has now brought suit against Mr. Gurley for what he owes him.

UNCLE SAM'S WONDERS

All Executive Departments Send
Treasures to the World's Fair.

Display installed in the Largest Governmental Exhibition Building Ever Constructed—Precious Documents—Relics of Famous Statesmen and Soldiers—Working Postal Exhibit.

The United States Government building at the World's Fair occupies an elevated site just south of the main picture of the Exposition. The great central dome of the Government building is visible from the very center of the Fair, looking across the picturesque sunken garden that lies between the Palaces of Mines and Metallurgy and Liberal Arts.

The hill slope in front of the Government building is terraced with broad stairways almost completely covering the slope. The building is 800 feet long by 250 feet wide and is the largest structure ever provided at an exposition by the federal government. It is distinguished from all the other large buildings at the Exposition by the steel truss construction, the entire roof being supported by steel arches, forming a splendid domed ceiling.

In this building are installed the exhibits of all the executive departments of the government. The building is a vast storehouse of an endless variety of treasures dear to the heart of every true American. Precious documents are to be seen here, and the autographs of our great men of the past are on display. Relics of famous statesmen and soldiers, carefully preserved through generations, are exhibited. Much governmental department has installed an exhibit showing its official character and mode of operation.

Entering the Government building from the eastern end, the visitor sees at his left a railroad postoffice car. This is not a mere coach standing idle, but is one of the most improved mail cars, in which men attached to the United States railway mail service are actively engaged in "throwing" the mails. Here you will see the postmen at work, just as they work while speeding along a railroad track. A curious collection of old time relics from the postoffice museum at Washington illustrates as no verbal description can do the crude beginnings of the postal system. One of these relics is an old fashioned stage coach that once carried United States mails through a portion of the Louisiana purchase territory. President Roosevelt, who once inspected it, exclaimed with a rough rider's interest: "The bullet holes which stage robbers and holdout brigands shot through its stiff leather curtains. Generals Sheridan and Sherman and President Garfield rode in this old coach during the strenuous days of frontier life. Among the collection of documents showing the primitive postal methods its vogue in the early days is to be seen the old book of accounts kept by the first postmaster general, Benjamin Franklin, all written by hand. There is a rare collection of stamps, including ancient Philippine, Porto Rican and Cuban stamps. The postoffice department's exhibit occupies 12,400 square feet.

Across the aisle, at the right, is the exhibit of the new Department of Commerce and Labor, occupying 1,000 square feet. This exhibit shows what the new executive department stands for, and what it is accomplishing. Mr. Carroll D. Wright, United States Commissioner of Labor, had charge of the preparation of the exhibit. Charts are arranged by him, showing the rapid growth of the nation in agriculture, arts, manufacture, population, etc., and of special interest to sociologists and all students of the labor problem. The Census Bureau exhibit is made in this section. It shows the tabulating machines used in compiling the census reports. The Lighthouse Board, also operating under this department, shows the great revolving lenses in light-houses, with other interesting appliances.

The space in the projecting northwest corner of the building is devoted to the Library of Congress. The edifice which houses this library at Washington is held by many architects to be the most beautiful building in the world. Its interior decorations, by Elmer Ellsworth Garnsey, furnish one of the chief delights of a visit to the exhibit. The decorative features of the interior are reproduced in their original colors.

The next exhibit on the right hand side of the central aisle is that of the Interior Department, occupying 11,732 square feet. In this large space the visitor finds so many things of compelling interest that he is loath to leave. The Patent Office exhibit belongs to this section. There are models of many machines that have borne an important part in the development of the nation's industries. The earliest form of every device of human invention, so far as possible, is shown here. For instance, you may see the actual sewing machine that was the first contrivance of its kind ever constructed; it was patented in 1846 by Elias Howe. The first typewriter, patented by C. Thurber in 1842; the model of the first cast iron plow, patented by Charles Newbold in 1797; the first screw propeller, invented by Robert Hook in 1680; and many other "first" things are to be seen. The model of Abraham Lincoln's celebrated device for lifting embankments of earth is shown here. The first harvesting machine, made in the year 1850 B. C., is one of the most ancient exhibits at the Exposition. There is also a model of the first steam engine, made in Egypt in the same year.

Every foot of the 200,000 feet of floor space in Uncle Sam's World's Fair building is occupied by exhibits of surpassing interest, and every phase of the people's welfare is shown.

My Breath.

Shortness of Breath
Is One of the Commonest Signs of Heart Disease.

Notwithstanding what many physicians say, heart disease can be cured. Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure has permanently restored to health many thousands who had found no relief in the medicines (allopathic or homoeopathic) of regular practicing physicians. It has proved itself unique in the history of medicine, by being so uniformly successful in curing those diseases.

Nearly always, one of the first signs of trouble is shortness of breath. Whether it comes as a result of walking or running up stairs, or of other exertion, if the heart is unable to meet this extra demand upon its pumping powers—there is something wrong with it. The very best thing you can do, is to take Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure. It goes to the foundation of the trouble, and makes a permanent cure by strengthening and renewing the nerves. I know that Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is a great remedy. For a number of years I suffered from shortness of breath, smothering spells, and pains in my left side. For months at a time I would be unable to lie on my left side, and I lay flat on my back would nearly smother. A friend advised me to try Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, which I did with good results. I began to improve at once, after taking several bottles of the Heart Cure the pains in my side and other troubles, were all entirely cured. All those dreadful smothering spells are a thing of the past.—P. P. DIKKE, Middletown, O.

Japanese Babies.

Judging by Western ideas, Japanese babies have a hard time; yet, says the San Francisco Bulletin, there are no healthier children in the world. The Japanese baby is dressed and undressed in a frigid temperature in winter, and in summer no care is taken to protect its tender little eyes from the full glare of the sun. In winter the small head is covered with a worsted cap of the brightest and gayest design and color. The black hair is cut in all sorts of fantastic ways, just like the hair of the Japanese dolls imported into this country.

The babies of the lower classes are generally carried on the backs of the mother or sister; sometimes the small brother is obliged to be the nurse-maid. The kimono is made extra large at the back, with a pocket of sufficient size to hold the baby, whose round head reaches the back of the neck of the person who is carrying it. It is not an uncommon sight to see children who are barely old enough to toddle burdened with a small brother or sister sleeping peacefully on their back. At first one expects to see the child stagger and fall beneath the weight, but apparently none of its movements are impeded, and it plays with the other children as unconcerned as if it were not loaded down with another member of the family.

At Nagasaki, among the women coolers who coal the ships, one sees many who carry babies on their backs all day in the rain or the sun or the snow, and the baby seems indifferent to everything. The top of its head alone is visible, while the movements of the mother do not seem in the least hindered, and she accomplishes as much work as the men.

An Umbrella Lock.

In order to prevent the misappropriation of umbrellas, whether intentionally or otherwise, an eastern inventor has provided a device which will prevent the spring latch of an umbrella from being opened by an unauthorized person. The device is provided with a simple combination lock which renders it impossible for any one not familiar with the proper combination to operate the latch. The lock is so arranged that the owner can open it in the dark, the proper combination being recognized by a number of clicking sounds produced when the lock is being operated.

Grasshoppers as a Delicacy.

Big grasshoppers, such as grow fat and buzz loudly in the Orient, are looked upon as table delicacies in the Philippines.

There are several methods used by the natives for catching grasshoppers. The most effective is the net. This is a large butterfly net, arranged with netting placed over a hoop, and to the latter is fixed a long handle.

The hopper is first thoroughly dried out in the heat of the sun or in the lake oven that there is nothing left that is really objectionable, and a nice crispy article of food results. This tastes sweet of itself, and something like ginger biscuits. The natives usually sweeten the grasshopper more by using a sprinkling of brown sugar.

Then the confectioners make up grasshoppers with sugar, chocolate trimmings, and colored candies in such a way that a very nice tasting piece of confectionery is obtained. The house-wife of the Philippines takes considerable delight in placing before you a nice grasshopper pie or cake. The grasshopper pie is the most wonderful dish, as the big hoppers are prepared in such a way that they do not lose their form.

The more puppy-like a man's disposition the more dog-matic his opinions.

To Prevent Fires.

Chief Bill of the Philadelphia fire department lays down these rules to prevent fires:
Do not put ashes in wooden boxes or barrels. These wooden receptacles are a frequent cause of fire. In every kitchen and cellar there should be an ash box of iron or tin.

Keep the cellar clean of heaps of refuse of old newspapers, rags and broken wood, paper and so on. Cobwebs on cellar beams and walls should be carefully guarded against, and every cellar should receive, at least once a year, a complete coat of whitewash or of fireproof paint.

Line all flues with terra-cotta. Keep wool away from the chimneys. Whose chimney flue is necessary, use a lathing of metal. Never hang bare curtains near gas jets. Let your windows be bare of lace, or else move your gas jets to another part of the room. In private houses there are few causes of fire more frequent than lace curtains.

Judge S. M. Harrington of Athens, Ga., says that a bunch of cedar boiled thoroughly into a strong tea, and let cool, will keep the potato bugs when poured on the vines.

THE NUGGET.

DAHLONEGA, JUNE 13, 1904.

Entered at the Dahlonega, Ga. P. O. as Second Class Matter.

Official Organ of both City and County.

The Georgia legislature convenes next Wednesday.

The national republican convention convenes in Chicago next Wednesday.

The cotton mills of Georgia cannot run on full time for lack of raw material.

Brenan College at Gainesville last week received a car load of pianos, containing fifty.

Two hundred thousand incandescent lamps illuminate the World's Fair at St. Louis.

Another boy disappeared mysteriously in Atlanta this week, making four since May 28th.

The rioting at Cripple Creek has about stopped, and nearly all the mines are in operation now.

A few days ago 800 Russians were ambushed and killed by the Japanese, who were in the rear of Port Arthur.

There is no use of discussing the question pro nor con, for Tom Bell is going to congress, matters not who runs.

A report comes that during a great naval battle off Port Arthur, four Japanese and two Russian war ships were sunk.

At Ouster, S. D., it is reported that a child, after being in its coffin for thirty-six hours was revived recently and is fast convalescing.

The Dalton Citizen says the most interesting part of the recent state convention were the eloquent speeches which were not delivered.

On Friday last Mr. "Belly" Jackson died very suddenly at his home in White county. He had only finished a hearty meal a short time before expiring.

Mrs. W. T. Leopold, of Savannah, afflicted with inflammatory rheumatism, was cured by being shocked with a stroke of lightning, which struck her house recently.

Geo. Simons, a former convict who was injured while working for the Georgia Iron and Coal Co., was this week rendered a verdict of $4,575 against the company.

The strikes of the past sixteen months in Colorado have cost $28,036,000. The state government has had to pay $600,000 of this sum for the maintenance of troops in the field.

The recent floods in Arkansas, along the big streams, have destroyed the cotton crop, and being extremely late to re-plant, will cause a big fall off of this staple article in that state this year.

Mr. Ashley, the prospective candidate for congress on the republican ticket in the ninth district, has been down in Forsyth county this week, blazing out the way for an active campaign.

If the legislature pays any attention to the wish of the recent state democratic convention it will pass a law adopting the Australian system of balloting. If this is done there will be less corruption in elections hereafter.

The Calhoun Times thinks the thing for Georgia to do would be to sell the W. & A. and get out of the railroad business before the present lease expires and before the property is rendered worthless by a parallel track from Chattanooga to Atlanta.

Hon. H. G. Turner of Quitman, Ga., died at his brothers in Raleigh, N. C., last week. Judge Turner's health has been bad for some time. He was assiduous justice of the Supreme court for awhile, having to resign on account of his health. He has served both in the legislature and congress and was one of the best men in Georgia.

Tom Bell and Primary.

In every campaign speech that Tom Bell made during his entire canvass in the recent primary he declared himself in favor of changing the accustomed time of holding the state primary during the farmers busy months.

The agitation crystallized into a resolution asking for a late primary when the ninth congressional convention met at Gainesville to formally nominate Mr. Bell as the democratic candidate for congress. The resolution was drawn up at the instance of the new candidate and his friends at the state democratic convention laid the matter before Major W. E. Simmons, of the platform committee, with a request that he champion the resolution, which he agreed to do, and it was unanimously adopted as a plank in the democratic platform that all state primaries shall hereafter be held the 10th of July and the first day of September.

This is the grandest work done by the recent state democratic convention and will meet the approval of every farmer in Georgia. —Lawrenceville News-Herald.

The College Commencement.

The commencement of the North Georgia Agricultural College began Saturday June 11th. Mr. Paul Drew won first prize in "B" class and Miss Pearl Anderson won second prize. On Sunday morning Dr. Jameson preached an eloquent sermon. Sunday night the memorial exercises were held in memory of the late Dr. E. S. Avis. The speakers were J. F. Broach, W. J. Laney, Col. Price, Col. Baker and Prof. Gaillard.

On Monday morning the Freshman prizes were won by Messrs. W. M. Broedove and H. D. McKee. On Monday evening the sham battle occurred. On Tuesday morning the "A" class prizes were won by Miss Lizzie Shed and Mr. A. L. Ivey. On Tuesday evening the Battalion inspection came off. On Wednesday morning the Junior class delivered their orations. Mr. B. Byers won first prize. After this, at eleven o'clock, Prof. Carl Steed delivered an address.

On Wednesday night the following first honor graduates made speeches: G. J. Felks, W. D. Drew, J. F. Broach, J. D. Gortalsky and Miss Sallie Gaillard.

The graduating class, consisting of the following: Robt. Rutherford, W. H. Pencock, G. J. Felks, Lester Holden, Allen Chappel, W. D. Drew, O. W. Steed, Erben Bowen, Ralph Henly, L. G. Fortson, J. B. Gortalsky, J. F. Broach, J. C. Stewart and Miss Sallie Gaillard.

The commencement was a splendid one. Everybody seemed to enjoy it. There were many visitors, all of whom spent a pleasant time while in Dahlonega. When all was over they went away rejoicing.

Mining Notes.

Mr. Tregent is putting in a pump and boiler down at the Barlow so as to enable him to work the placer.

Twenty stamps of the Hand mill commenced last Monday and will be run regularly for two months so as to make a thorough test of the various ores on the property. The Ingersoll & Crismon dredge is still paying handsome profits. It saves both fine and coarse gold. We were shown by Capt. Ingersoll last Tuesday one of the nuggets it scooped up the other day, weighing four pennyweights.

Mr. Danforth, who is mining in White county, visited Dahlonega last Monday and reported somewhat of a revival in mining in that county. He came by the train while they were cleaning up and said the yield was unusually large and profitable. White contains much gold and we are glad to know that they have resumed work again in taking some of it out.

At the Singleton, belonging to the Standard Co., they are only able to make one shift owing to the scarcity of water. It rained some last week but the streams are as low now as they were before. Mr. Campbell said first of the week that they would have to close down in a few days entirely if it didn't rain. If the canal was cleaned out they could run right along. This can be done for about a hundred dollars, which could soon be made back.

Work on Ball Creek canal, which is to supply the Briar Patch mine with water, is moving right along. While some men are working on the canal others are cutting the tunnels. All these are already completed except two—one at Neiser's cemetery and the other at or near Arveter Sullins, and 300 feet of the latter was cut Saturday—115 feet on one side of the hill and 15 feet on the other. The latter being rock has to be blasted. Sullins has the contract. It is 500 feet long. The one at the cemetery is only 312 feet.

It turns out that the big bed of ore at the Lockhart contains silver as well as gold. The galena and sulphate are being separated and saved now. The extent of the body of ore is not yet known. McDonald & Bro. have been at work on it since the first of January, gone a distance of 50 feet and are still surrounded by ore. They have been endeavoring to run the mill both day and night without much success as the water is so low in the creek that the power is insufficient to run both mill and pump regularly. The pump is used to keep the water down in the mine.

The indications are now that the Georgia pension roll will begin to decrease now. In the spring Commissioner Lindsay thought it would take $800,000 but he believes now that payments can be made with the sum of $870,000.

Between five and six hundred people, mostly children, met death on a big burning steamboat last Wednesday in East river near the city of New York while on a Sunday School excursion. The vessel took fire in the upper works and spread rapidly. About 2,000 people were aboard.

We learn that Miss Lizzie Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Thomas of Dahlonega, was married at Buford the other day, but we have not learned the gentleman's name.

Some days ago Barney Walker of Lumpkin county, got blowed up out at Ducktown, Tenn., and came near losing his life. He came home this week and was considerably stove up, being unable to use his right arm at all. Luther Walker, who resides near Porter Springs, was with him at the time, but was only slightly injured.

Local News.

Mr. John Tillson left here last Monday for West Point, New York.

Mr. Howard Stanton is now in the office of the Crown Mountain Co. of this place, looking after the books.

Mr. Z. T. Castleberry of Gainesville, came up and spent several days with his brother in Dahlonga this week.

For the first time in many months, Dr. Smith of New Bridge, visited Dahlonga this week. Come again, Doctor, and stay longer next time.

On last Saturday we printed 450 visiting cards for several of the students, who enjoyed their last days here of the term just closed, very pleasantly.

If you wish to post your land, we have the cards already printed for you. Nothing to do except to enter your numbers. Send in and get some. Only five cents a dozen.

Through an oversight of the postmaster or his clerk here last Saturday, all the NUGGETS for the Gadsdenville mail were left out, is why our patrons along the line didn't get their papers on time.

If you wish to subscribe for the Atlanta Daily News, and have not time to attend to it, hand us $3, and we will get the paper for you twelve months and save you any more expense or trouble.

Quite a number of old students, who have not been here for years, visited the commencement this week. The elapse of so many years since some of them were in Dahlonga, changed their appearance so we did not recognize them.

Dr. Glenn, the new college president, will move his family here about the middle of July, and occupy the J. F. Moore residence on Park street, opposite Col. Price, which is convenient to both town and college, making it a very desirable location.

From every appearance there will soon be an old wedding in Dahlonga. No. Not exactly this, but on old man and a young woman are going to get married. He has already been wearing a pretty flower pinned on the lapel of his coat by her tender hands is why we believe what we have said.

During the sham battle last Monday afternoon, Mr. F. K. Summerow, a cadet from Warsaw, Ga., was painfully but not seriously injured by a bayonet. During the charge a cadet fell in front of him, whose bayonet penetrated the flesh on the right side of Mr. Summerow's, just below his bowels.

This occurred in Dahlonga the other day. A certain fellow who had been exposed to the measles, had a very high fever and red face, and he looked sleepy and sick. At once his father began to hitch up a horse and buggy to carry his son home, thinking that he was taking the measles, but when some one told the father that his son only had an overdose of barley malt liquor he suspended further action.

West Anderson, a son of Mr. Eas Anderson of this county, was lodged in jail last Saturday and will be tried for larceny within ten days from the time he was arrested, as a late decision of the Supreme court requires this. This young man is the one who went to the field where a man was plowing some time ago, and shot at him. The last grand jury returned a bill against him for it.

A dog that belonged to one of the Stovers, residing out in the country, was killed on the public square last Monday because it was believed to be troubled with rabies, but if the old saying that a mad dog doesn't give any signs of pain when hurt, this wasn't effected, for it howled as long as there was life. Sufficient caution should always be used so as not to kill a healthy dog, for a good dog is useful and should not be killed.

The college hall was so densely packed last Monday night that some parties sold their seats for twenty five cents.

It may be that a gentleman will take charge of the Boys Dormitory and open it to summer visitors for the next three months. At least fifteen parties from Macon want to come here.

At THE NUGGET office you will find some beautiful photographs of Dahlonga, Consolidated mine, Calhoun mine, Betz mine, Ingersoll & Grissons mining boat and a number of others at 25 cents each.

Since Mr. Croff Moore came back to Dahlonga to work for the Crown Mountain Gold Mining Co., he decided to move back to his former home in Floyd county, but will be in the employ of Mr. Carlisle at Gainesville till fall.

By some hook or crook, or slip of the pen, we made it say that the altitude of Dahlonga was "1500 feet above the level of the sea." We meant 2240. This is correct, and it puts us high up where the atmosphere is cool and pleasant.

Mr. John A. Parker of Atlanta, has been up on a visit for several days. Mr. Parker was a citizen of Dahlonga for many years, and at one time represented Lumpkin county in the legislature, and his acquaintances and friends here are numerous.

Before Prof. Barnes left for Ashland, N. H., early this week he was unanimously re-elected to his same position he held in the N. G. A. College. He is full of life, vim and energy and no young man has climbed the ladder of usefulness faster than Prof. Barnes.

Messrs. J. W. West and W. M. Smith, two old graduates of the N. G. A. College, came in last Saturday and remained during the commencement exercises. They love to return and visit the college of their boyhood days and it is a pleasure to us all here to see them come.

The roster of the confederate soldiers now on file in the state pension agents office at Atlanta, shows that some of the Lumpkin county pensioners belonged to different companies to the ones they swore they were in during the wars and are drawing the states money illegally now. This shows fraud, and will result in some of their pensions being discontinued. We are told that one man in Lumpkin county is drawing a state pension who wore the blue at one time during the war and helped to guard some of the confederate prisoners in this county. In other words, this pensioner deserted and went across the line and donned the blue.

The election of Dr. Glenn, as president of the N. G. A. College, was certainly quick work. On Friday night of last week Mr. Glenn was recommended by the board of trustees of the N. G. A. College to the University board, which gave the trustees of the University notice by wire. The following morning he was elected and that night Mr. Glenn was in Dahlonga, present at the opening exercises of the institution. But having had some previous engagements made in reference to educational matters elsewhere before elected, he was unable to remain longer than Monday morning. Dr. Glenn is a man of recognized ability in the cause of education throughout Georgia, and the N. G. A. College will prosper and continue to grow in usefulness under his direction, is the sentiment of the entire community. On Sunday, after the services were concluded, Dr. Glenn arose and gave a short talk, which was listened to with much interest from start to finish, causing all the students, who expected to return, to feel proud of their new president, and those whose college days were over, to almost regret that such was the case, for every word uttered had a good effect upon their minds.

Be sure and come to Dahlonga if you are in search of a pleasant place to summer.

Pressing business prevented Gov. Terrell from being here this week.

Some sections have been visited by belled buzzards, but it is a bellied hog that is up in Crumby's district now.

In order that our county patrons can all get their NUGGETS the same week it is published, we will change the publication day from Saturday to Friday next month.

The U. S. Court convenes in Atlanta on the 20th inst., and the following cases from Lumpkin county have been set for trial on the dates mentioned below: David Seabolt, June 20; Tom Howell, June 21; Geo. W. Walker, Jr., Wm. Stover, Homer Parks, John Ash and J. B. Waters, June 24th.

It cannot be said now that the negro is being treated badly in Dahlonga, for the other day, when two notorious "damsels" were fined by the mayor and boozed, a white woman came up and placed down nine dollars for the release of her most favorite one. A negro man, who belongs to the church and has a family to support and some honest debts unpaid, settled the fine of the other.

Mrs. Pruitt, who married barfooted up in Porter Springs district one night last week, is very much dissatisfied with her husband and only a few days elapsed after the wedding till she called on the Squire for the license, thinking that securing the license was all she had to do to become a single woman again, but was very much disappointed when she was told that they had been sent into the ordinary.

Mr. W. R. Parrish of this county, who had the misfortune to lose his house and contents recently, requests us to return his sincere thanks to the kind people who came to his assistance with money and household articles in the hour of need. It having been reported that he Mr. Parrish has already received more than he lost, he wishes us to say that he has not received the twentieth part of what he lost.

The old tramp, who passed through Dahlonga one day last week, went across the river into Shoal Creek district and made him self very conspicuous for awhile, causing alarm among the women until they were satisfied that he was gone. A lot of hands are at work over there and at one place he found their dinner buckets and helped himself to what there was in them. At another place the hands, when they went to divide with the odd looking stranger, he picked up a piece of a candle and ate it apparently with as much relish as a child would a piece of pound cake. The next morning when Bill Adams was going into a long tunnel to work he fell over the tramp in the dark where he was asleep, causing Bill to faint with fear. When he recovered and found out what it was, he ran the tramp off.

We have before us a letter of Dr. M. F. Stephenson, a very prominent man well known to many of you, who has long since gone to his reward. It was written from Pleasant Retreat, Ga., under date of October 27, 1892, to Gen. R. G. Dunlap, Texas Minister, Washington City, and was folded up and mailed without being enclosed in an envelope on October 30, same month, and 25 cents marked due on it. Pleasant Retreat was then in Lumpkin county. The Doctor was at that time making a report to Gen. Dunlap, concerning his operations and the outlook generally. He reported that he had made a number of fire and acid tests and obtained from 15 to 30 times as much gold as by amalgamation. At one place he worked, the ore was worth $1.20 per bushel. In this letter he speaks of J. G. Calhoun and many other prominent citizens that have passed away.

It is certainly food for thought to see how some supposed christian people will swear falsely in returning their property for taxation.

The first stone that was cast during commencement was aimed at the head of Joe Daniels last Monday night by some one in a crowd but it missed the object and no one was hurt.

Mr. John Moore has purchased more real estate this week, being the lower half of Dr. Stow's lot, adjoining his property, just across the street from the VanDyke property.

Mr. John Findley of Gainesville, was up this week, being the first time that he has been in Dahlonga for a number of years. John first saw the light of the world in Dahlonga and a visit to his old childhood home is always a pleasure to him.

Mr. Ben Parks, another graduate of the N. G. A. College, took in the commencement this week and enjoyed himself with his many friends who were present. He closed his college life several years ago, and selected the practice of law as his profession and is now located in Gainesville doing a thriving business.

It is reported that one business man of Dahlonga has been selling lager beer in this place. This is strictly a violation of the law here and is liable to get him into trouble if it continues. Another party has been suspected of selling liquor. And this too, if correct, will create more trouble. A hint to the wise should be sufficient.

On Monday night when we returned to our place of business we found the front doors of both our offices decorated. Swinging on one was a beautiful bouquet of flowers, which denotes friendship and love, we suppose. At the other were two good size stones, which were left for self protection in case we are molested by a night marer, is the conclusion we have reached.

The other day Mr. Frank Weaver of this county, upon hearing a honk come out from the house a piece, ran out and found a nest containing ten eggs and ten partridge eggs. He would like to use the eggs but the law forbids him robbing or disturbing partridge nests, and if he puts his hand in the nest to get those of the hens the partridge will abandon the nest. Now what is he to do? Can some lawyer give any information on the subject?

Mr. Warren, after spending several days here in investigating the mineral resources about Dahlonga, returned to his home in Boston first of the week. We regret that his trip was limited for we feel confident that he understands his business and this is the kind of a gentleman we desire to report upon our mineral resources, for a true report is all that we ask any one to make about the mines of Lumpkin county. Mr. Warren's time is engaged for the next six months. After that time he hopes to be able to come again and be with us longer.

We were misinformed last week about the original promoter in the present land deal in this county. Mr. Frank Jones informs us that he commenced working up the deal more than a year ago. Others first started with him, but they became discouraged and fell out, but Mr. Jones didn't grow weary, for he kept right on and his work has been the means of several thousand acres of unimproved lands changing hands in Lumpkin county, and in a short while many more thousand acres will take the same course, not only in this county, but in Dawson, Union and Fannin, causing a vast amount of money to be put into the needy farmers pockets, which will eventually be the means of an iron horse traveling through this county, causing progress and prosperity to spring up on every hand, showing what can be accomplished by a man with vim, patience and energy like Mr. Jones.

The measles in Dahlonga kept a good many county visitors away from this week.

On our first page the program of this weeks college commencement will be found in full.

Attorney Ben Gaillard has been up from Gainesville this week, taking in the commencement.

Mr. Charlie Harris, who once resided in Dahlonga, was among the visitors to Dahlonga this week.

Maj. Scott of Atlanta, and Capt. Pillow of the Candler Horse Guards at Gainesville, came up last Tuesday and reviewed the college cadets here.

A runaway horse and an over-caused Mrs. Martha Townsend, Leory Pinner and Tilmon Satterfield to be injured so that they had to be assisted to their home and boarding house and suffer with pain for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Gaillard of Macon; S. S. Gaillard and Miss Mary Gaillard of Griffin; Dr. J. B. Rudolph and wife of Gainesville, and Miss Maggie Bell Hyatt of Ellijay, were the guests of Prof. and Mrs. Gaillard during commencement this week.

Wylie Carroll is assisting in the postoffice during the absence of postmaster Tate who has gone to attend the national republican convention, which convenes in Chicago next Wednesday, and clerk J. A. Howard, now in Atlanta as a witness before the U. S. grand jury against Marion Edmonson for breaking into the Dahlonga postoffice.

On Friday night "Gov." Thomas carried off a calf which his wife claimed, and killed it for beef. As soon as Mrs. Thomas found it out she made herself known at the slaughter pen, but it was too late. The next morning we happened to be present when Mr. and Mrs. Thomas met at the farmers store, but took our departure as soon as a war of words and licks commenced, which is said to have lasted for several minutes. When the smoke cleared away Mrs. Thomas was found to have a skinned place on one of her arms, and "Gov."s head contained a knot that somewhat resembled a young squash, just after shedding its bloom. On Monday they collided again. This time "Governor" got the best of it and Mrs. Thomas went home with a scratched face. Two and fifty were required of each by the mayor, together with all cost.

It apparently being a free day for men and their wives to fight last Monday, Charlie Anderson and his wife, colored, didn't have their battle till after dark when nearly every person had gone to the college. Their row occurred out on Pea Ridge. They were heard by parties out in town, a half mile distant, and if it had not been for the music of the band they would have been heard farther. Charlie was required to pay a fine of $2.50 and cost and his wife $1.00 with all trimmings. Pea Ridge was certainly on a boom. The same night it is said Ida Stevens and Fred Trammel, colored, went to where Nora Pratt, a half-breed negro woman lived and stripped her of her clothing and she ran off into the woods leaving the other women in possession of her house who made things lively till a late hour. A mocking bird had been roosting on that building during the spring and summer, singing at intervals through the night. But the beautiful notes of the bird will be heard no more, for on account of disgust and shame it dropped dead. On Wednesday the two negro women were tried but the Pruitt negro having recovered from the chill she received that night failed to swear what she reported to the Marshal the next day and the mayor discharged the defendants. The only evidence now that they did commit the offense was the death of the bird, but this couldn't be considered according to law in court.

Come to Dahlonga and spend the summer.

Dr. West of Dawson county, was among the visitors here this week.

Rev. J. E. Thackburn, will preach at Concord church on the 4th Sunday in July.

It's strange that some people after many years of warm friendship will fall out and be bitter enemies.

Miss Emma Branch of Iron City, Decatur county, Ga., registered at the Villa during commencement.

If you have any chronic disease it will be to your interest, to read the advertisement of Dr. Reynolds & Co., to be found elsewhere.

Some of our citizens are having to haul what water they use on account of their wells being dry, which is something unusual here.

In speaking of Dr. Glenn last Tuesday, Mr. J. D. Gortalsky of Albany, Ga., said that he was the most popular man in South Georgia.

Mr. J. D. Gortalsky, who graduated at the N. G. A. College here this week, will accept a position with the Atlanta Constitution in a short time.

It is calculated that not less than twenty-five gallons of liquor and Pernau, was used here last Monday, but not a single arrest had to be made for drunkenness.

The case of the United States vs. Marion Edmonson, charged with breaking into the Dahlonga postoffice, will be investigated by the federal grand jury today.

Two pistol shots were heard in Dahlonga between one and two o'clock Sunday morning. This seems to us to be very poor fun, on Sunday morning more especially.

Prof. Steed, who has been in Boston, Mass., for some months, returned this week, accompanied by his wife. The Professor will spend some time here in hunting and fishing.

There is a young man residing in the outskirts of Dahlonga, who is too lazy to work and lies out in the woods during the day to keep from being molested by the Calvin vagrant act.

Last Wednesday at noon Eugene Underwood, col., had his side from his hip to his neck sprinkled with shot. The pulling of a trigger to the gun said to be done accidentally by his father.

Col. Jones, president of the Cavender's Creek Mine and Mr. Lee Wild, have been out this week. We understand that the object of their visit was to try to make arrangements with Mr. Pratt and his company of the Pyrites Mine, to get the use of the water that has been in dispute, till the latter company needs it, but couldn't get it, and the Cavender's Creek operations cannot be resumed now for lack of water power.

A cow belonging to Mr. James Smith was bitten on the tongue by a snake the other day. Her tongue and neck both presented a bad appearance, on account of the swelling, for several days. The animal appears to be well now but they are afraid to use her milk. Mr. Smith resides in Yahola district, where the stock law is in force and where they have no hogs to devour these dangerous reptiles. It is the case in all stock law sections plenty of snakes and no hogs.

Within the past few weeks Col. Farrow of Gainesville, has been up at Porter Springs sending off hundreds of letters containing advertising matter concerning his splendid summer resort, the hotel at that place having opened up to visitors last Wednesday. The Colonel believes in printer's ink is why he is so successful in business, which should be a good example for the people of Dahlonga to follow. If this was done our beautiful mountain city would be alive with lower country visitors every summer.

BLACK-DRAUGHT STOCK and POULTRY MEDICINE

Stock and poultry have few troubles which are not boded and liver irregularities. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine is their friend. It puts the organs of digestion in a perfect condition. Prominent American breeders and farmers keep their herds and flocks healthy by giving them an occasional dose of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine in their feed. Any stock raiser may buy a 25-cent half-pint air-tight can of this medicine from his dealer and keep his stock in vigorous health for weeks. Dealers generally keep Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine. If yours does not, send 25 cents for a sample can to the manufacturers, The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Broomfield, Ga., Jan. 20, 1902.
Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine is the best I ever tried. Our stock was looking bad when you sent me the medicine and now they are getting so fine. They are looking so much better.

Melted Away like Snow.

That the Pawnee is passing from the face of the world has long been a matter of common remark. The truth of the saying never received more striking proof than in the case of the Pawnees, who were removed to Oklahoma from Nebraska in 1876, says the Chicago Chronicle. At the time of their removal from Nebraska the tribe numbered 2,500 souls. Today there are less than 500. The Pawnees were given exceptionally good allotments in Oklahoma. The climate is practically the same as that of their former home, and, in fact, everything has been done by the government to promote their welfare and happiness.

For some unaccountable reason they have sickened and died, until the day is not far distant when the Pawnee tribe will be extinct. The mortality among them has been growing steadily year by year. In 1882, six years after their removal to Oklahoma, the tribe had shrunk to 920, and the census of 1900 showed but 600 living Pawnees.

It is a curious thing that the children of these Indians appear much rugged, but after passing their twenty-fifth birthday a peculiar and unaccountable malady attacks them, and they apparently lose interest in life, and gradually waste away, death overtaking them in their prime. Scientists and professional men generally of the Indian office have been attracted by this peculiar condition of things, but have not as yet been able to ascertain what Nemesis pursues the rugged Pawnee after his twentieth birthday.

Vaccinate Your Farm Land.

Science is doing some wonderful things these days, but it is doubtful if it has done anything more wonderful than making worn out farms fertile by inoculating them with the germs of fertility. We vaccinate against diseases, so why not vaccinate our farms against the disease of barrenness? The idea is very simple when once you grasp it. The agricultural department at Washington has discovered how it may be done. The department cultivates the right kind of germs, and then compresses them into cakes something like yeast cakes. A small cake is shipped to the farmer, who throws it into a barrel of water and let it dissolve. Then he sows his seed grain in this water and plants. The seed has taken up the revived germs, and the germs set to work to enrich the soil. And the best part of this seeming fairy tale is that it is true—Common sense.

The Uncertain Future.

Her father had read her the parable of the sheep and the goats at the day of judgment, says Town and Country. She made no comment, but that night a sound of weeping came from her room. Her mother went as consoler.

"Why are you crying, my dear?"

"About the goats! Oh, I'm so afraid I'm a goat!"

"Why, no, dearie, you are a sweet little lamb, and if you should die tonight you would go straight to heaven." With this and like assurances she was finally pacified.

The next night the same performance was repeated, and again her mother inquired the reason.

"It's the goats, I'm afraid about the goats!"

"Didn't I tell you, dear, that you were a little lamb?"

"Oh," she sobbed, "I'm not crying about myself, but I'm afraid you may be a goat."

Homely Philosophy.

The fellow who, during this hot weather, stuffs at 100-cent dinner into a 50-cent stomach, hurts both his purse and his digestion.

Many a man who grumbles at his wife's waste of money on finery himself wastes a day in every week gassing on the street.

Money may make the mare go, but selfishness prompts most people to action.

The man with the longest clothes usually has the shallowest purse; just as the man with the longest tongue has the simplest brain.

A giggling girl may be disconcerting, but she's far preferable to a pouting one.

Take away from some men the privilege of grumbling at the weather, and you rob them of the chief joy of life.

Every politician thinks the state's safe when his faction is in power; and that it is on the rapid road to ruin when his opponent triumphs.

"God put a big root in the little pig's mouth," says the ancient proverb; and it makes such a fool of him that he runs among the herd of swine squealing and the herd soon takes the root out of his mouth. It is said the pig in this respect resembles the small man who inherits a fortune—THE MAN.

A Menagerie at Sea.

There is now a floating menagerie voyaging from Melbourne to London. It contains some thousands of Australian birds and animals. A rare species of "wallaby," or dwarf kangaroo, is coming to the Ho; Walter Rothschild, the most enthusiastic of amateur animal collectors. A family of emus is bound for the Zoological Gardens, Leipzig. James Cooper, the owner of the menagerie, makes an annual excursion of this sort from Australia to England, but his present cargo is the biggest he has ever brought. It embraces kangaroos, emus, wallabies, black swans, white cockatoos, all sorts of parrots and pigeons, ducks, geese, tinamous, opossums and magpies—London Chronicle.

At Cincinnati, O., several days ago, a silver wedding was celebrated under unusual circumstances. Last January Mrs. Carrie W. Kaltenbach, with whom she had lived for more than 24 years and whom she had become the mother of eight children. On Friday the couple celebrated the 25th anniversary of their marriage by assuming the conjugal yoke again. The bride assumed all the blame for the estrangement, declaring that she had been in the wrong, and that it had not taken her long to discover that there was no other man living like her John.

The sale of intoxicating liquors in the form of patent medicines has grown to be an abuse to such a large extent in the country parishes of Louisiana that a bill is now before the legislature of that state which seeks to put a stop to it. The bill would put a $200 license for each parish upon dealers of patent medicines, and the medicines so vended shall have printed upon the bottle the formula of their contents; approved in writing by a licensed physician in that state.

An English watchmaker has just finished making a tiny watch in the form of a shirt stud. Its dial is two-sixteenths of an inch in diameter, and it is to be worn with two other studs. By turning the upper stud the watch is wound, while turning the lower one the hands are adjusted.

Preserving Eggs.

Those who would like to keep some of the oversupply of eggs until there is more of a demand, may profit by the rule here given: Take one pint of salt and one quart of fresh lime and slack with hot water. When slacked, add sufficient water to make four gallons. When well settled, pour off the liquid gently into a stone jar. Then with a dish place the eggs in, tipping the dish after it fills with the liquid, so they will roll out without cracking the shell, for if the shell is cracked the egg will spoil. Put the eggs in whenever you have them fresh. Keep them covered in a cool place and they will keep fresh for one year. When it is necessary to pickle a large number of eggs, of course, the amount of liquid must be correspondingly increased.

An agricultural laborer in Russia is reported to have slept for seven months. He "dropped off" while at work in the fields, was carried home and remained slumbering for the period mentioned, watched from time to time by physicians. Curiously enough, he lost so little flesh that no attempt was made to feed him. When he awoke he was as weak as an infant, but after a fortnight of nursing he was strong enough to return to his work.

Nothing Lost.

"They take tremendous precautions at the mint so that no specie shall be lost," said an Englishman, with a reminiscence of an article he had been reading on the subject. "Every scrap of refuse is burned in order that not the slightest vestige of metal shall be wasted. The working clothes of the men are burned, too, when they are worn out, and they even burn the carts which are used in carrying the bullion to the mint." "Well," said the American in the guess as to go on, better than that in our immortal country. "We burn the refuse, and the carts. Yes, sir, we do that, but what is more, when a man dies who has worked there we have him cremated." Then they talked about the weather—London Chronicle.

A Portland, Me., traveling man had been planning all the year to be in attendance upon the golden wedding anniversary of his parents, but when the time came he found that he was too far from home to get there in season. Accordingly he sent a valuable present to the people and a telegram to his father. The latter read: "Dear Dad—Is marriage a failure?" The answer came back in an incredibly short time: "No, but the results sometimes are."

At two places in this state the people crowd churches to pray for rain. How foolish. The weather man always governs his own affairs.

J. A. Owens of Atlanta, started to St. Louis last Monday, pushing a wheelbarrow. Had he remained at home and used it on a farm it would have been much more profitable.

On Friday of last week the Japanese whipped the fight after the loss of 1,000 men. The Russians lost, numbered only about 800 men. Two of the Japanese transports were sunk.

The dam of the North Georgia Electric Co. was completed and the gates shut down last week, after two years of work. A big barbecue was served and hundreds of people were present.

An negro deacon was lynched in Heard county last week by negroes. These negroes were playing "craps" and the add deacon threatened to report them, is the cause of the action.

Rev. W. K. Poole, presiding elder of the Rome district of the North Georgia Conference, has been suspended from his work until the next annual conference meets, charged with intoxication.

During the Slocum horror, near New York last week, it has been discovered that jewelry and cash valued at a hundred dollars have been taken from the dead victims. Just think of people being mean enough to rob the dead. This shows that the devil must either be asleep or nodding.

A Pennsylvania judge has rendered a decision declaring it to be the inalienable right of a young woman to sit on the lap of a young man who is courting her. That judge must have inherited some of the wisdom of Solomon, is what the Columbus Enquirer-Sun thinks about it.

The final session of the United States Court of Private Land Claims was held at Santa Fe, N. M., on the 14th inst., and on the 20th of this month the life of the court will expire by limitation of the law which created it. W. W. Murray, who is well known in Dahlonega, was one of its associated justices.

Dalton Citizen: Think of a fair coming to Dalton, stopping twenty-four hours and "feeding" her people to the tune of about $100 "to further the work of the dear Lord," when there are within the corporate limits of the city hundreds of people, many of whom are little children, who are on half rations, and who have not enough clothes to hide their nakedness! Think of it. And ask yourself the question if you don't think China ought to send her missionaries over to convert us?

The greatest question before the legislature of Georgia today is that of the common schools. The state is spending a vast sum of money every year for common schools and it is an acknowledged fact that in the greater number of counties the money is not being spent as carefully as it should be. There is no charge of misappropriation of funds, but there is a woeful lack of good school superintendents and good teachers. If the schools are to be made what they ought to be there must be some provision for more thoroughly trained school superintendents and school teachers. It will take money to accomplish it, but the money should be forthcoming. It is nothing short of folly to continue the management of common school systems as it now is, truthfully remarks the Athens Banner.

Mining Notes.

At the McAfee-Lind the results are so good as to cause its owners to talk about putting in twenty more stamps. The frequent breaking of the pump may cause them use electricity.

We understand that the mill tests at the Etowah Gold mining operations are giving good results. This information does not surprise us for it has already had the reputation of being a good gold mine.

In reply to a letter from Ohio we will say that every thing is moving along all right up at the Jumbo. It is pronounced by all to be a number one gold mine. And the Crown Mountain will be started up as soon as they can close down the dam gate.

Mr. Tregent has his engine in position at the Barlow and is moving right along with his placer work and it is useless for you to ask if he is making money for the Barlow always gives good results, more especially when such men as Mr. Tregent is in charge, for he uses good judgment and economical methods.

Mr. John Jenkins is thinking of leasing the celebrated Jones property, which has recently changed hands and now belongs to Col. W. A. Charters. Mr. Jenkins hopes he can strike that very rich vein which was lost some years ago. It was worth some six or eight hundred dollars to the pan. Mr. Jenkins is a practical miner and we believe that he can do it. If he does he will grow immensely rich within a few days, and there is no man we can think of that we had rather see accumulate a big sum of money than this gentleman.

Up to the present they have had but very little chance to do much down at the Hand on account of the weakness of the water power, being unable to run two shifts.

It has been extremely dry in this section for a year or so but what a big mistake the Consolidated Co. made in erecting a hundred and twenty stamp mill at this place, matters not if they were flooded with water because the ore is hard and it is almost impossible to keep this many stamps supplied. Had the stamps been divided and about twenty put up on other property belonging to the company its stockholders would have been much better off today. The plates are showing up fine considering the time the mill has been running. They are thinking of running the air compressor and lights at night and the stamps during the day till it rains and swells the streams.

The Gorge dam is completed but the gate cannot be closed until sufficient rain falls to raise the river so it will not interfere with the North Georgia Company's power below, for if this was done it would stop the street cars in Gainesville from twelve to twenty hours, and this must not be done for the progress of that wide awake up to date city must not be molested. The height of the Gorge dam is 41 feet and the width is 200 feet; although it is only 85 feet across the stream. In this structure is more than a million feet of lumber and it contains several tons of iron pins. This dam has cost several thousand dollars more than was first anticipated. It is a very narrow shut in of the river but the bed rock on one side is of a considerable depth, and in fact a firm foundation was not struck on this side which may cause a great deal of expense and trouble, by not carrying out the instructions of engineer Carlisle. We hope not however, but the first freshet will determine this.

Can you guess what republican is writing editorials for a so called democratic paper in the Ninth district? We can.

Seven hundred and seventy of the General Sherman victs as have been found and more than three hundred more are missing.

The Chattahoochee river is so low near Atlanta that the fish are dying and grave fears for the city has been expressed by leading physicians. The Chattahoochee has never been so low before.

In New York this week, E. P. Hoyt was given six years in Sing Sing prison for stealing $25,000 from a bank. More than $4,000 is a good salary and will be an inducement for others to steal.

The Atlanta Journal is getting ahead of the Constitution in these "diggings," because the Journal's Sunday issue reaches here the same day that it is published, and the other doesn't come until Monday noon.

The number of men the state of Georgia to the Confederate armies was 106,540, and the Bainbridge Argus says that they made the best soldiers the world ever knew, which assertion cannot be truthfully disputed.

After an investigation of over two week a Pinkerton expert says that Miss Sophie Kloecker of Atlanta, was not murdered. The lady suicided because she was in love with a man and he was engaged to another lady.

The negro Lyons of Augusta, Ga., is on the National republican committee. It is a pretty high position for a negro to hold and lay out plans for his white republican brothers to go by. If you desire social equality join the republican party.

The editors of two papers in this district after failing to get their choice in the recent democratic congressional primary, wanted to bolt and Mr. Ashley, the probable republican candidate against Mr. Bell, advised them to stick to their party and not do it. Brothers, don't you feel a little ashamed—you might be if we were to give your names. Practice what you preach or throw down the quill.

Before and during the primary all the republicans of this county were for Tom Bell for congress. The leaders didn't vote in the democratic primary but popped their whips and the small fry did as they were commanded—voted for the new man. In the first place they ought not have been allowed to participate in the democratic primary for it was not their intention to stick to their decision. There is no doubt about this, for every one of them, notwithstanding they obligate themselves to stick to the nominee, and those who fail, be he a democrat or a republican, he should be disfranchised.

Major W. R. W. Gilmer, Gilmer county's present representative in the general assembly, died at his home in Ellijay last Sunday.

At Tifton, Ga., the other day, when Mrs. Williams, who resides near Ty Ty, went to the mill nearby, she left her one-year-old child sitting in the door. As she was returning she was horrified to see a large hog seize her baby by the arm and run off with it. She attempted to follow the hog but fell in a faint. Her screams attracted the attention of neighbors, who followed the hog and rescued the child.

We understand that on account of the low condition of the Chattahoochee river the gate, which was closed down at the Dunlap dam on the 21st, had to be raised to prevent damage suits being filed against the company by parties interested in enterprises below. It is said that it would have taken at least ten days for the dam to fill up. As soon as it rains and swells the stream the gate will be shut down again.

Local News.

Now is the time to have your job work done at THE NUGGET office.

A number of our citizens are expecting to take in the World's Fair later on.

If you do not wish to have any business with the marshal you had better keep your cattle up at night.

The reason THE NUGGET office receives so much job work, it does it neat, nice, quick and cheap.

The tax receiver thinks that there will be an increase of the valuation of taxable property this year.

Dr. McAfee of Atlanta, and Mr. M. P. Lind of Philadelphia, of the McAfee-Lind Gold Mine, visited this county last week.

City Marshal Walker has been before the federal grand jury in Atlanta this week, in the case of the U. S. vs. Marion Edmonson, charged with breaking into the Dahlonega post-office.

What's the matter with the electrician down at the Hand? Some times the lights are out at two o'clock in the morning and at other times the lights burn till six o'clock, an hour after sunrise.

In our list of U. S. court cases, published last week, the name of Geo. W. Walker, Jr., appeared, when it should have been "Sr." The junior Walker is Dahlonega's marshal and has no case in the U. S. court.

The use of five bottles of Peruna has caused a certain young man to have to stick to his bed most of the week. Directions say to take a tea spoonful three times a day, but he took a quart at a dose, explains the appearance of this local.

Those of our citizens who attended the barbecue at Dunlap Shoals last week, report as having a nice time. Hundreds of people were present to see the gate of the big dam closed down, and many more would have been present had not a collision of two freights occurred on the Southern road, between Atlanta and Gainesville, causing such a delay that all the passengers expecting to go to the Dunlap returned to Atlanta.

T. J. Smith & Bro. will sell clothing as follows, until further notice, for cash: $15 and $16 suits to go at $12.50; $12.50 suits to go at $10; $10 suits at $7.50. Every thing on down in proportion. We must reduce our line of clothing, therefore we give our friends a chance to get a good suit cheap. Don't fail to see our line before purchasing elsewhere. We also carry a full line of dry goods, shoes, groceries, and etc., which will be sold very cheap for cash. Come and examine and be convinced. T. J. SMITH & BRO.

Judge Huff tells us that no new arrangements have yet been made for the care of the paupers of this county. As stated before, Mr. Jackson agreed to take the whites but was unwilling to care for the colored paupers, is why the instructions of the last grand jury have not been carried out. The county needs a farm and a place for the benefit of these unfortunate people. It would be cheaper and better than under the present system. Then they would get the full benefit of it. As it is, some times their kin folks share the supplies furnished by the county.

Our city is having a visit from Prof. W. S. Wilson and his son, Emmet; this week, being the first time the Professor has been here in many years. At one time he was a citizen of Dahlonega, a teacher in the N. G. A. College, and married here, and we know of no one that our citizens like better than this gentleman. Since leaving Dahlonega, the Professor decided to quit teaching and go to practicing medicine. He recently graduated in some Medical college and is ready for business as soon as he rests up a little. Where he will locate we have not learned.

You will save money by paying your sutary tax within the next five or six days.

After being a resident of Dahlonega for several years, Mr. J. F. Branch returned to his old home at Campton, Ga., last Sunday.

Remember that we will change our publication day after this week, and the next issue of THE NUGGET will appear bright and early on Friday morning.

About thirty persons stood the teacher's examination at this place last week, several of them being students who did not have time to get home and stand it there after the commencement.

"Choctaw" Davis describes the effects of barley malt liquor this way: "That it hurts a man's head and sounds as though a dozen carpenters were working all around in the top and the scaffold falls down."

You will remember that we mentioned in last week's NUGGET that Henry Underwood shot his boy and it was said to be an accident. The next day he filed a plea of shooting in the Mayor's office and the "accident" only cost him one dollar and cost.

Some weeks ago we published a notice clipped from some paper that cedar boiled and the water sprinkled on the vines would kill the potato bugs. Several of our citizens have tried it and find it true. There is no danger in this to either man or beast, like Paris Green.

Last week we struck up with a fellow who owed us 70 cents. After bringing the matter up himself at the Meaders corner, he started off and asked us if we would be there until he could come back. We told him yes, but it is one time we lied, for we sat there on the porch, waiting and watching for him till we took the tramp and could hardly rise, and went away without seeing the fellow.

What about it? Uncle Toney Stephens, one of the oldest negro men in Dahlonega, is now courting, with the intention of soon having a young wife. He is 88 years of age and nearly deaf besides, and the loving words that pass between him and his sweet-heart can be heard by all the neighbors for a considerable distance away, which gives all their secrets away.

On last Saturday Mrs. Geo. Sisson came to town in search of a Justice of the Peace, very much troubled. Her sixteen-year old girl, Ada, had left with her brother-in-law and his wife for Ducktown, Tenn., without the mother's consent. She tried to get a warrant, but as there was no law violated by the girl going off with her kin folks, the mother returned home to make the best of it she could.

Week before last we stated that Mr. Ned Moose of Dahlonega, had returned home from Tennessee with a new wife. On Friday of last week Marshal Walker received a letter from Isabelle, Tenn., signed by three different parties, saying that THE NUGGET might say that Moose was not married but carried away a man's wife who had not been divorced from him; Moose and his supposed wife are still in Dahlonega and we do not know what reply they will make when they see this.

After a visit of several days down at Bessemer, Jonesboro and other places in Alabama, Counselman T. J. Smith returned last part of last week. It was said that Mr. Smith was looking out a location, but Mr. Smith is not ready yet to leave Dahlonega. It's true that there is more money at these towns in Alabama than in Dahlonega, but Mr. Smith says a dollar here will go as far as two down there. House rent and taxes are much higher in Alabama than here. A business house, a good deal smaller than the one he occupies in Dahlonega, rents in Alabama at one hundred dollars per month.

Porter Springs hotel was opened on the 15th inst., and several visitors have already arrived.

Let all of our citizens who desire to board summer visitors, send in their names and we will give them in THE NUGGET free of charge.

Do you wish a large photograph showing how hydraulic mining is done at the mines at Dahlonega? If so send us 25 cents and it will be mailed to you.

On Friday of last week Mr. John Hatfield sold out his household and kitchen furniture at the Dahlonega Hotel and it brought over three hundred dollars.

Not long ago we understood that a certain white woman in Dahlonega presented a colored musician with a 75 cents box of fancy candy. It even disgusted the negro, causing him to have the appearance of a chicken with a severe case of cholera.

The experimental farm under the direction of Prof. Davis of the N. G. A. College, is very interesting for even a praiser to look at. At the first glance any one can see that the Professor understands his business and is the right man in the right place. Our farmers would gain much information by visiting the farm and have a talk with the Professor who will take pleasure in answering all questions pertaining to the agricultural business.

Last Saturday Messrs. Bruce Crawford and Frank Harris drove out to Cane Creek Falls to take an old style boyhood bath. In a short while Mr. Crawford's horse came running into town with only a piece of the bridle on its head. This alarmed their friends, several of whom were soon on horses and out at the falls, where they found both gentlemen safe and sound. Frank arose out of the water and went towards the animal, causing it to scare and leave the place.

The required amount of $150.00 for a scholarship by the Alumni of the N. G. A. College has been paid in. A year ago the Alumni organized for the purpose of raising a sufficient amount of money to educate some deserving person and it is with pleasure for us to state that this has been accomplished and the young lady getting the appointment is receiving a collegiate education as fast as time will allow through the kindness of these old students.

On Thursday of last week Mr. Arthur Wimpy of Lumpkin county, a son of Mr. Patton Wimpy, deceased, died at Bessemer, Ala., and his remains were brought back and buried in the cemetery at Jones Chapel on Sunday following, in the presence of many relatives and friends. After eating a box of potted ham on Saturday before, Mr. Wimpy got very sick, and grew worse and worse until he expired, and it is supposed that he was poisoned by the tin. The deceased had just about reached his 21st year, was a nice, clever young man and his death is deeply regretted by all.

We never heard of a owner of a hotel or any other house, being locked out and forbidden to enter the premises until last week. It happened in this way: Some time ago Mr. John Hatfield rented the Dahlonega Hotel from Mr. M. G. Head it so much per month until the first of September to be paid monthly. After Mr. Hatfield furnished the hotel and occupied it for a while he moved to Gainesville. Last week Mr. Hatfield sold the rent up to date and commenced selling out his furniture. The owner of the house failing to get all the rent up to September in advance had a portion of the furniture levied on. The lessee made bond and went on with the sale, and when he got through locked up the house and put up notices of no trespassing and the owner nor no one else is allowed to enter the building, which gets things in bad shape, as Mr. Head has the hotel insured and if no one occupies it at night he receives nothing if it was to get destroyed.

Mayor Baker visited Atlanta this week.

Mr. D. O. Johnson has been confined to his bed this week with sickness.

Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Simmons, of Atlanta, are on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Reese.

Mrs. H. M. Smith and Mrs. Birdie Brown are here on a visit to their mother, Mrs. L. Q. Meaders.

Rev. Mr. Taylor has been absent this week, attending the B. Y. P. U. convention at Washington.

It may be that Rev. Mr. Turner's brother will be elected principle of the Dahlonega graded school.

Marion Edmonson was given 18 months in the penitentiary for breaking in the Dahlonega post-office.

As this is a dull season it is the very time to advertise in THE NUGGET. A move of this kind is sure to bring forth good results. Try it and be convinced.

We are glad to learn that Mr. J. C. Stewart of Ludville, Ga., a late graduate of the N. G. A. College here, has a position out in Oklahoma with Mr. O. G. Gaddis at $80 per month.

Gen. Warner was in the city again this week. The General is a great promoter in public enterprises and we are always glad to have the presence of such men in our community.

Last Tuesday, a physician was called in to see Miss Jane Cavender, who had been cut on the leg by Carl Cavender, a boy about eleven years old. He is quite young to begin carving people.

We are in receipt of an invitation from Mr. Herbert S. Stone, chief department of publicity, Philippine government exposition, to visit the World's Fair, with all passes necessary to make a country editor happy, for which we return most sincere thanks, and if we can get off, later we will take pleasure in accepting all these propositions.

By a notice elsewhere you will be observed that camp meeting will be held at the Dahlonega camp ground this year. For several years past, but little interest has been taken in this camp meeting, some years none being held at all, and if such a fervent worker in the cause of religion as Mr. Turner can't revive it the tent-holders had just as well pull up stakes and quit the place.

Every road commissioner in Lumpkin county was returned by the last grand jury for not discharging his duty. They should do better and see that the law, under their direction, is carried out. It saves time and money. If Judge Kinsey does not fine a single one it costs about six dollars for the papers to be served on the commissioners of each district.

You will find at M. J. Williams, a big line of ladies', men's, boys' and misses' hose, from 5 to 25 cents per pair, any size. Shirts of all kinds and size from 14 to 17, prices 25c to $1.25. Good line of dress goods and black waterproof. Fruit jars, one and two quarts. Wash pots. White beans 5c per pound. 6c. Men's and ladies' umbrellas. Low cut shoes.

Last Sunday night two Johns, one white and the other colored, (we won't give their names because they feel bad enough anyway) brought a couple of jugs of liquor near town for sale. They hid them in one of "Doc" Ervin's tunnels across Crane's hill and came on in to town to notify their customers of what they had for them, but lo and behold when they returned to fill their orders some one had been there and carried away the liquor. They remained about the place till daylight, thinking that something might occur so they could learn its whereabouts, but the party who got it was too sharp to leave any tracks behind and the boys had to return home in a worse condition than they came, financially speaking.

Col. W. A. Charters and W. P. Price, Jr., left for Florida first of the week to be gone some eight or ten days on a fishing expedition.

Prof. J. R. Byers, who has been teaching in the college during the past twelve months, returned to his home at Price, Ga., this week, and to the regret of his many friends here, he will be with us no more.

We have been a little "under the weather" this week, according to the old saying, but by the kindness of the Lord and the special attention of Dr. Whetzel, we are able to send you THE NUGGET out as usual.

Prof. J. C. Moore, who filled Prof. Steeds chair in the college while he was absent for a few months in Boston, left for his home in Macon this week. Prof. Moore is a high-toned gentleman, clever and sociable and we all dislike to lose his presence in Dahlonega.

City Marshal J. V. Harbison of Gainesville, came up after Jim Lowery, col., who had been arrested by City Marshal Walker, and carried him back yesterday. Jim had created some trouble down there and left the man who had paid his fine. Marshal Walker got a reward of ten dollars.

Mr. Banbridge of the Consolidated Co., is having new electric light poles erected in place of the rotten ones. This is a good move, and if the twenty lightning arresters purchased some time ago, were put up it would be a good idea and save the destruction of any more transformers.

The reason that some of you don't prosper you are too stingy to take your county paper and steal a read from your neighbor. This you know is wrong, if you didn't you wouldn't look so sheepish when we catch you reading a borrowed NUGGET. Be a man and take one of your own or quit the county, for such people are of no benefit to themselves nor to the community in which they live.

A "patent medicine" man was in town this week. He had already reached his three score years and ten, but said that he could jump farther than any person in Dahlonega, either young or old. This we suppose depended upon the sales he made. Money can make a person jump higher and farther than a rattle-snake. If you don't believe it send us in a few dollars for subscriptions and we will show you.

As we have often said, we are in favor of deserving confederate soldiers under the various acts of the legislature drawing a pension, but are opposed to those who have doctored their property to their kin people in order to receive money from the state, whereas a poor old penniless veteran gets nothing because his comrades are all scattered and dead and he cannot make such proof as the law requires. One of these unworthy pensioners was in Dahlonega the other day and he refused to speak to us on account of our position in this matter, but we do not care. If he prefers swearing a lie and sending his soul to hell it is all right with us.

But few country people visit Dahlonega unless they get burnt out or want money to fit up a school house or church, or come to court. Isn't this true? If they bring fodder or come here to sell, they require the cash and carry it off to Gainesville and spend it because they can get goods cheaper. There are country merchants all around us that sell goods cheaper than can be had in Dahlonega because they have no rents nor city taxes to pay and out their own wood. Undoubtedly there is a remedy for this. Let the merchants of Dahlonega, put down the profit on their goods so low that it will be an inducement for these people to trade here. Quick sales and short profits would bring them in and cause the town and country to prosper, for every dollar spent elsewhere is a clear loss.

The days are getting shorter now.

Mr. Henry McKee has gone to Oklahoma.

Early cabbage are now selling here at three cents a pound.

It is next Sunday that Rev. Mr. Blackburn preaches at Concord.

Irish potatoes opened up in Dahlonega at $2.00 per bushel, but are some cheaper now.

The crops in this section all look well and a prosperous time is promised the farmers this fall.

Dick and Will Dover of Dawson county, beat up Jim Stevens pretty badly in Lumpkin county the other day.

Several of the young people of Dahlonega, enjoyed a moonlight picnic at Cane Creek falls last Wednesday night.

Corn is selling from the wagons here at 80 cents per bushel. Meal the same, and fodder from $2.30 to $2.50 per hundred.

The Shady Grove Sunday school is about the only one in the county, outside of Dahlonega; that has continued all the year round.

Two so called democrats from Dahlonega, while under the influence of liquor in Atlanta this week had a quarrel about Ashley and Bell.

Capt. J. M. Ashley informs us that he received an encouraging reply from Mr. Garfield, civil service commissioner, to his request to have civil service examinations held in Dahlonega. Could these examinations be held in Dahlonega, our young men could take them without expense and many of them could get valuable positions in the civil service. Captain Ashley is entitled to the thanks of the people of Dahlonega for his efforts in this worthy matter.

Nine having agreed to tent and by the authority of Rev. W. L. Pierce, presiding elder, I announce that the camp meeting will be held at the Dahlonega camp ground at the usual time, beginning Tuesday night before the 2nd Sunday in August and running through the following Sunday. We have the promise of plenty of preachers, and let everybody take a hand and make it a great success. If you want to tent let me know and I will try to get you a tent. J. D. TURNER, Pastor.

The Sunday school children enjoyed a picnic last Wednesday over on "Said Branch," near Prof. J. W. Boyds. It has been a long time since one has taken place there. The little ones, who last gathered on the "Said Branch," are now grown—many of them dead. Picnics are always enjoyed by the little folks. Could we call back thirty or forty years we would have been present, but as it is, we are rapidly traveling down the rugged pathway of life under the direction of old father time and have not got time to tarry on the way.

We received a letter from Mr. W. J. Burt on the 22nd, stating that his wife had married Mr. Melvin Parks and gone to Tennessee—that is, once the wife of Mr. Burt who was recently separated from him under a legal process of law. This letter contains about three pages and speaks in pretty rough terms of Mr. Parks, who he claims won't pay his debts and is a blockade still reporter. Besides this, he does not speak in pleasant terms of the foreman of the grand jury making an investigation in the case of the state vs. Mrs. Burt for fighting. In addition to this Mr. Burt says that we misrepresented him in reporting the case that was made against him, or that is as to what he pleads guilty to, and he was mad for awhile. Now we are very sorry to learn that we misrepresented the gentleman for we never heard of it before. It is not our intention to do a thing of this kind, and had Mr. Burt notified us we would have made the correction long ago, for there is no one who regrets this family trouble more than we do.

A Prize.

The only son had just announced to the family his engagement. Mother—What, that girl? Why, she squints.

Sister—She has absolutely no style. Auntie—Redhead, isn't she? Grandma—I'm affected she's slightly.

Uncle—She hasn't any money. First Cousin Jim—She doesn't look strong.

Second Cousin Jane—She's stuck up. Third Cousin Jeebed—She's an extravagant thing.

The Son (thoughtfully)—Well, she's got one redeeming feature anyhow.

Chorus—What's that? The Son—She hasn't a relative on earth.

Employees in Japanese cotton factories get only eight to eighteen cents for a day's work of eleven or twelve hours. This work, however, is much less strenuous than in this country, and much time is wasted in loafing, talking, laughing and drinking tea.

A Witty Lawyer's Excuse.

John D. Coffey, for many years the wit of the Hamilton county bar, is dead. He was one of the self-made men of Ohio, who earned and enjoyed distinction, none of which came to him through politics, says the Marietta (O.) Leader.

While Mr. Coffey was one of the youngest men of the Hamilton county bar he appeared one morning before an unusually "crusty" court an hour tardy to try a case which had several times been continued.

The stern judge proceeded to "roast" the young lawyer, and demanded to know what were his grounds for being so late.

"I have very good grounds, your honor," explained the budding Blackstone.

"Well, what are they?" demanded the court.

"Coffey grounds," meekly replied the rebuked one.

For a moment the court's eye flashed fire, but when it was explained that a newly-arrived Coffey would be named for the judge there was a titter in the court, in which the judge himself had considerable difficulty in not joining.

According to Formula.

Judge Pennypacker was once asked by his brother Harry during a session of court for the loan of $5.

Harry walked to the desk and whispered the request in the judge's ear. The latter looking down over the top of his glasses without the suggestion of a smile, said loud enough to be heard throughout the room:

"Put your application in writing and present it to the court in a proper manner."

Mr. Pennypacker, thinking the judge's insistence upon regularity to be merely regard for the dignity of the court, wrote out the request and handed it to the clerk of the court, who in turn passed it to the bench. The judge read it quietly and seriously and then interrupted the pending trial long enough to say:

"Application for a loan of $5 made to this court is received and refused."—Philadelphia Times.

He Fishes by a Fire on Ice.

To sit and bob for trout through a hole in the ice and yet to stay warm and comfortable is rather a difficult thing to do, but a fisherman up in New Hampshire solved the problem. He contrived a small one-horse sled with a snug little house of heavy canvas built upon it. A horse is hitched to it and with his two dogs the midwinter angler goes out on many a tour sheltered from the weather and warmed by a three-burner oil stove inside his little box.

In the floor is a trap door, through which he fishes.

At the Fruit Growers meeting in Marietta recently, the question was asked why an orchard next to woods had no peaches. It was answered by one grower that the woods protect trees from wind, which would have prevented the precipitation of frost. He said his orchard on the top of a mountain was well fruited, while that part next to skirting woods was destitute of peaches. He said his intended to cut down the woods, to give the wind a chance. Trees stand dry cold all night; it is the moisture that injures.

If we were so bold as to give advice to farmers we would say, when you have provided your bread and meat, plant cotton and lots of it. It is doubtful whether another full crop will ever be made in Texas, on account of the ravages of the boll weevil, and it is likely that in a few years the same conditions will apply to Georgia. The calamity to the southwest make a rich opportunity for the southeast. We will never again see five-cent cotton.—DeKalb News Era.

An Illinois man has just married a woman whom he had been courting twenty-five years. During that time he had been to see her more than two thousand times.

A Persistent Hen.

The Springfield Republican tells the story of a hen that was engaged one night in brooding over some eggs in a barrel in the livery stable where she made her home.

The stable caught fire. With the courage of the boy on the burning deck, she refused to leave her post. The top of the barrel took fire. It burned half way down, and still the hen did not move.

The stable was almost totally destroyed, but the firemen had the flames so far under control that a stream of water turned upon the hen's apartment extinguished the blaze.

The smoke did not seem to disturb her, nor the flood of water pouring down the inside of the barrel. When daylight came she was still in her half-burned apartment, and in due time she brought off her brood of eight chickens.

Conundrums.

Why is a lawyer like a wine clerk? He is a bartender.

What head lines prove the most sensational to women? Wrinkles.

What are the last teeth called? Fake teeth.

Why should a doctor never be sneezed? Because he is accustomed to see (sne) sickness.

What soap is the hardest? Cast steel (castle).

Wakeful?

Sleeplessness is a Sign of Nerve Trouble and Should Be Looked To.

There are three different manifestations of sleeplessness. First, hardly to sleep a wink all night, second, to be awake a long time before falling asleep, third, to fall asleep soon and to wake up again.

They mean that somewhere in the nerve fibers, somewhere in the brain cells, somewhere in the blood vessels that carry blood to the brain, something is radically wrong, and must be righted, or the end may be worse than death.

To right it, take Dr. Miles' Nervine. Some other symptoms of nerve trouble are: Dizziness, Headache, Backache, Nervousness, Irritability, Melancholy, Lack of Appetite.

This indicates diseases which may lead to Epilepsy, Fits, St. Vitus' Dance, Nervous Prostration, Paralysis, Insanity. Nothing will give such quick and lasting relief as Dr. Miles' Nervine.

"My husband had been sick for weeks, could not sit up to have his bed made. With his arms and legs he could not get out of bed. He could not eat or sleep. He was sent away, and all callers barred, because he could not get out of bed. I read of a case of nervous prostration cured by Dr. Miles' Nervine. We began giving it to him, and in a few days he was able to get up. From that time he steadily improved."—MRS. A. G. HASKIN, Freeville, N. Y.
